Pattullo Challenges Government to Name Stevens's Partners

Request for Information of Associates in Canadian Northeastern Promotion Draws No Response; Government Plans to Give Charter to Political Henchman for Speculative Purposes, Says Leader of Opposition.

A challenge to the Government to give the names of the associates of Hon. H. H. Stevens in the proposed Canadian Northeastern Railway between Stewart and Fort Graham and charges that the Government was granting a charter for speculative purposes to a political henchman, were made by T. D. Pattullo, Leader of the Opposition, in the Legislature yesterday, before the bill was given second reading.

H. P. Kergin, L. A. Hanna and A. W. Grey, Liberals, voted with Government members.

Colonel Nelson Spencer declined to give the names of Mr. Stevens's associates beyond announcing the Stevens brothers were interested. Attorney-General Pooley, beyond stating that it was all British capital, failed to supplement the information. Both Mr. Pooley and Mr. Spencer said, the Government was satisfied of the bona fides of the promoters.

"WHY ALL THE SECRECY?" asked Mr. Pattullo, when his request for the names of those interested was not complied with. "We want information about this company," said Mr. Pattullo. He had nothing against Mr. Stevens, but when he came to this Government and asked for a charter, they had a right to examine his credit. He did not know that his record in connection with companies was one to inspire confidence in him as a financier.

NOT SUFFICIENT

"They want to get this charter to peddle," said the Leader of the Opposition. "It is not sufficient to say the Prime Minister and the junior member for Victoria are satisfied. We want an assurance they will put up the money and carry out the work."

It was doomed to failure before it started, Mr. Pattullo claimed. It would be another fiasco like the P.E.I. It was a promotion scheme pure and simple. There was not enough local traffic to make the line pay, Mr. Pattullo said, although he was familiar with the highly mineralized district through which the line would run. If the charter went through the promoters would make a large floatation, he said. They would start a construction company out of which they would make money. The men who exploited it would make a fortune, and the shareholders would lose out. They would not, however, get a man of substance in the Old Country to put a dollar in it until they had consulted the two great major systems to see what their policy in regard to this country would be.

Ship In Bering Sea Calls Aid

Taibu Maru Drifting With Tailshaft Broken; Radio Message Is Broadcast

Seattle, March 14.—A vessel believed to be the Taibu Maru broadcast a message this morning through the Dutch Harbor, Alaska, naval radio station stating its tailshaft was broken and it was in need of towage. The position given was latitude 54 North, longitude 178 West.

The call letters of the distressed vessel, by which it was identified, were received as JBXED.

Plane Carries Mother To Her Dying Son

North Bay, Ont., March 14.—The victim of neuro-pneumonia, Ross Campbell, an employee of the Canadian Vickers Company at Bouyon, Que., died yesterday in a Bouyon hospital in the arms of his mother, who the previous day had won a 1,000-mile race with death from Manitoba by aeroplane and rail to the bedside of her dying boy.

CANADA'S BEST RIFLEMEN TO COMPETE WEEK OF AUGUST 12

Ottawa, March 14.—The "D.R.A." annual prize meet of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, will be held this year during the week of August 12. The dates for this historic event, which attracts the foremost marksmen of all the provinces to the Connaught Rifle Ranges, just outside Ottawa, were decided by the executive following the annual meeting of the association here yesterday.

A proposal to extend the major shooting of the meet over six days instead of five as in former years, in order that the Governor-General's Match final might be shot off on Saturday, August 17, was laid before the new executive for consideration.

Central U.S. Sees Losses In Spring Floods

Rivers Out of Banks in Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska

Rainfall Is Heavy and Melting Snow Adds to Volume of Streams

Chicago, March 14.—Two days of Spring had created flood havoc in Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska to-day.

Many hundred acres of farm lands were flooded; streets and buildings in some places were filled with water; railway and highway traffic was disrupted and bridges were torn away.

Rain and rising temperatures, melting the Winter's last snows and breaking up the ice, had turned the Mississippi tributaries into ice-glutted torrents. The Mississippi itself was rising, but gave no immediate cause for alarm.

DIKES REPAIRED

Hundreds of men worked on dikes, while others watched ice movements. Prepared to use dynamite whenever bridges were threatened.

Virtually all streams in northwest Missouri and southern Iowa were out of their banks to-day. Several towns were partially isolated and many thousands of dollars' damage had been done.

Florida Beach Deserted To-day Following Fatal Speed Car Crash

Daytona, Beach, Fla., March 14.—The nine-mile stretch of beach where the American Automobile Association holds its yearly speed trials was deserted to-day and Daytona Beach had entered a two-day mourning period following the tragic culmination of Lee Bibb's effort yesterday to break the record of 331.36 miles an hour made by Major H. O. D. Segrave, of England two days previously.

EMBASSY MEN DRIVE TRUCKS WITH LIQUOR

New Angle of Prohibition Enforcement Is Seen in Washington

Washington, March 14.—Driving of liquor-laden trucks has been added to the activities of diplomatic attaches as a result of the effort to tighten the prohibition lines around Washington.

Private truck owners previously entrusted with Embassy liquor shipments were warned by Washington police some time ago that they would be arrested if caught with such loads unless accompanied by an attaché having credentials proving the right of immunity.

In the first attempt to comply with this policy, the attaché who was assigned to accompany the Embassy liquor followed the truck in his private automobile. Police objected, however, that this did not give the truck immunity, making it necessary for the attaché to sacrifice their comfort to the extent of riding with the liquor.

TOOK THE WHEEL

Taking the idea in a sporting spirit, and exemplifying the meticulousness with which the embassies have attempted to comply with rulings affecting the exercise of their immunity under the prohibition law, they apparently have decided to go even farther than the police requested.

After hiring a truck to bring in a supply of the legally imported liquor yesterday, an attaché of one of the embassies not only rode with it, but took over the wheel and personally drove it into the city. Although he and the other occupants of the truck were only ordinary clothing and the conveyance carried no mark to distinguish it, they were not molested at any point along their route to the embassy.

Foreign Minister Of Indian State Of Patiala Coming

Prof. L. F. Rushbrook Williams to Address Education Conference Here

With the unanimous approval of the Indian Chamber of Princes, Professor Laurence F. Rushbrook Williams, M.L.A., C.B.E., O.B.E., M.A., B.Litt., F.R.S., M.R.A.S., Foreign Minister of the State of Patiala, India, who is now on his way to London, will come to Victoria to address the National Conference of Education and Leisure which opens here next month under the auspices of the National Council of Education.

Information of the decision of Professor Williams to come here was received by cable to-day by Major F. J. Hey, organizer of the conference. The visit to British Columbia of the Foreign Minister of his state, was suggested by His Excellency the Maharajah of Patiala, Chancellor of the Indian Chamber of Princes and ruler of one of the richest states in India.

As a delegate of the Indian States and with his vast experience in Eastern affairs Professor Williams will be most competent to speak before the conference here on the Indian states.

BRILLIANT CAREER

He has a most remarkable career. Educated at University College, Oxford, and advancing brilliantly as a student, Professor Williams became temporary lecturer at Trinity College, Oxford, in 1913. He later studied in Venice and Rome and from 1913 to 1914 was a lecturer in medieval history at Queen's University at Kingston.

He studied Canadian and American university organization in the same year and from 1914 to 1919 was Professor of Modern Indian History in the University of Allahabad. In the year 1918 he was temporarily attached to the general staff, Indian army headquarters.

He undertook special duty in connection with the Indian constitutional reforms in the same year and was on special duty in the Indian Home Department in 1919. From 1920 to 1926 he was director of the Central Bureau of Information. The professor acted as official historian of the Indian tour of the Prince of Wales in 1921. He became secretary to the Indian delegation at the Imperial Conference in 1923.

As political secretary to the Maharajah of Patiala he became substitute delegate to the League of Nations Assembly in 1926. He is a prolific writer and numerous notable publications have been published under his name.

New Cruisers Prove Britain Makes No Race

Bridgeman Tells Commons Craft Will Only Have 6-inch Guns

Minister Says Britain Has Do: More Than Other Nations For Disarmament

London, March 14.—Three new cruisers will be laid down during the coming financial year, Mr. Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the Admiralty, told the House of Commons to-day in introducing the naval estimates.

The design of one cruiser has not yet been settled, but the other two will be smaller type cruisers with six-inch guns, destined to replace other small cruisers which are becoming obsolete.

The First Lord said that as regarded disarmament, Great Britain had done more than any other country. Since the armistice this country had scrapped more than 2,100,000 tons of armed ships and cancelled orders for 314,000 tons more.

Of that total 1,630,000 tons were scrapped before the Washington Conference. Mr. Bridgeman continued pointing out that prior to that conference Great Britain had scrapped more tonnage in ships than she had left now. Mr. Bridgeman recalled the British proposals for reduction in naval armaments and remarked that the Premier had already said Britain was not going to engage in any shipbuilding competition with the United States.

Great Britain had shown this intention, he said, both at the Washington Conference and at Geneva and the beginning of the six-inch gun replacements instead of 8-inch showed clearly she was not trying to go one better than the United States.

Mexican Army Steadily Gains In Big Contest

Signs of Break-up in Rebel Forces Along the Northern Border

Mexico City, March 14.—As powerful federal armies continued to close in on the rebel stronghold at Torreon, the revolutionary ranks along the northern border of Mexico to-day gave signs of beginning to falter.

Coming closely on the heels of the action of the city of Naco, Sonora, in returning to Government allegiance, a breach between the authorities took place in the city of Agua Prieta, and it was uncertain whether the town had returned to the Government fold.

General Olache, who took Naco in the name of the Government with 1,200 Mayo and Yaqui Indians, is firmly entrenched and has been in touch with General Calles, federal.

General Election In South Africa Set For June 12

Capetown, S.A., March 14 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—Introducing the budget in the South African Parliament this afternoon, Hon. N. G. Havenga, Minister of Finance, announced Parliament would be prorogued as soon as possible so that dissolution might take place early in May. The general election would be held June 12. The Minister said it was proposed to vote four months' supply bills and this would make it necessary for the new Parliament to meet in July.

CANADIANS BUY CONTROL OF BIG MOVIE CHAIN

New York, March 14.—Canadian interests were reported in Wall Street to-day to have acquired control of the Famous Players Canadian Corporation Limited, affiliated with the Paramount-Famous Lasky Corporation of the United States, through purchase of a large block of stock from United States holders.

The company owns or controls and operates 133 theatres in Canada with a seating capacity of 184,000. Adolph Zukor, head of the Paramount-Famous Lasky Corporation, is head of the Canadian company.

Severe Penalties Meted Out to Two Youths By Court

Three-year Sentence and Ten Lashes for John Beaumont, Who Admitted Guilt on Two Drug Store Robberies; Edward Kelly to Serve Eighteen Months for Complicity; Both May Face Vancouver Court on Similar Charges.

Heavy prison sentences for both and lashes for one of two Vancouver youths implicated in drug store robberies here during the last two weeks were imposed by Magistrate George Jay in City Police Court this morning.

John Beaumont, seventeen, who pleaded guilty on two charges, was sentenced to serve a three-year term of imprisonment on each charge, the sentences running concurrently. In addition he is to receive ten lashes.

Edward Kelly, seventeen, who was convicted of complicity on one of the charges, was sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment.

Grim-lipped and white, the boys did not flinch when the magistrate pronounced their sentences. Kelly, who conducted his own defence, however, did not wear the smile which brightened his face when cross-examining witnesses yesterday.

Beaumont left the prisoner's box first, and as he passed Kelly, the latter whispered something to him. It seemed to be a word of encouragement.

The charges against the two youths arose out of hold-ups at the stores of W. R. Clark, Pandora Avenue; and V. Enery, James Bay Pharmacy. Loot totaling over $130 was secured at these two stores.

CHARGE WITHDRAWN

Kelly pleaded not guilty on both charges but was convicted of the Clark robbery. The other charge against him was withdrawn by City Prosecutor C. L. Harrison this morning when he explained that Kelly's connection with the hold-up was not quite clear.

Pending sentence Magistrate Jay said: "Beaumont, the two charges to which you pleaded guilty are that, armed with an offensive weapon you did unlawfully rob Mr. Enery and Mr. Clark. Both of you were guilty on the latter charge."

SERIOUSNESS

"You must realize that these are both serious offences and for which it is provided in the statutes, you may be sentenced to life imprisonment. You, Beaumont, are undoubtedly the worst offender in that you committed the actual offence, while Kelly was forced to go through the fact that he assisted you."

"The act also provides that this offence may be met with whipping and your case is one to be met in this way. Armed robberies are becoming too prevalent in this part of the country and not only will this sentence be punishment to you but it will be a deterrent to others."

LOOT RECOVERED

Of the money secured by the boys in their hold-ups here, $57.55 has been recovered and, it is understood, this will be divided between the two drug-store proprietors.

Vancouver police believe Kelly and Beaumont responsible for several similar thefts which occurred in the Mainland city a short time ago. As a result of information received, Vancouver police went to rooms at 1087 Broadway West Monday night and are said to have found three masks similar to those worn by the boys who hold up shopkeepers in the city.

It is understood the two youths will be taken to Vancouver to face identification "lineups" following which they may be charged in connection with the Mainland robberies.

TARIFF POLICY Aids Works of Development

Postmaster-General Veniot, Addressing Commons, Points to Increase in Exports

Ottawa, March 14.—This afternoon will bring further contributions to the budget debate in the House of Commons. C. E. Bothwell, Liberal, Swift Current, Sask., who had not completed his address when the hour of adjournment came last night, will be the first speaker.

The tariff policy of the Liberal Party was the system best suited to the needs of Canada and calculated to bring the speediest development of the country's resources, said Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General, who shared in the debate last night.

The moderate tariff of Canada, he stated, had resulted in a greater increase in exports and a lesser increase in imports on a percentage basis than had the high tariff in the United States.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CLUBS GROWING

Presbytery Commends Work of Organizations; Missionary Fund Allocations Accepted

The growth of Young People's Societies in the Victoria and Island Presbytery of the First United Church was stressed in a report given by the Rev. W. A. Guy during the afternoon session of the Presbytery yesterday. In all forty-three new associations had been formed, including nineteen Young People's Societies.

Moreover, the work being done by these associations was becoming increasingly important. Rev. Mr. Guy stated last year about $11,000 had been raised by these organizations for mission and Sunday School work. Of this amount $7,978 was devoted to local work, $2,491 to the missionary fund and $452 was appropriated for general expenses.

At present, Dr. Guy continued, sixty-one schools were in operation on the island. In them 328 teachers were employed and 4,931 pupils attended. During the year 164 Sunday School pupils had been admitted into the churches.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS

Miss A. Fountain of Vancouver, Provincial Girls' Work Secretary, reported that work in her department was progressing very satisfactorily. Six Japanese and three Chinese girls' clubs had been organized in the Province, she said.

Frank Piddler, Provincial Boys' Work Secretary, gave a short talk on Bible examinations. During the afternoon, Rev. E. R.

McLean spoke on the place of evangelism in the Sunday School. ALLOCATIONS ACCEPTED

Allocations of the missionary and maintenance funds were accepted in accordance with the decisions made Tuesday. These totaled $28,000 which was the local presbytery's share of the national budget. The latter amounted to $3,400,000.

The amounts allotted to the different congregations were as follows: Ahousa $150, Alberni $225, Barkley Sound $125, Cowichan and Shawnigan $160, Courtenay $700, Cumberland $550, Clo-ose $350, Duncan $750, Kok-siah $250, Ladysmith $550, Nanaimo First $2,300, Nanaimo Chinese $75, Halliburton Street, Nanaimo, $350, Nanaimo Indian $300, Parkville $150, Pender Island $125, Port Alberni $210, Qualicum Beach $105, Sidney $450, St. Aidan's $250, Union Bay $225, Gabriola $350, Belmont Avenue, Victoria, $250, Centennial $500, Esquimalt $175, Fairfield $1,000, First Church $7,000, Metropolitan $7,000, James Bay $400, Chinese $150, Japanese $250, Oak Bay $1,400, Uclulet Indian $25, Victoria West $450, Wilkinson Road $300, Wellington $110, Wellington South $75, Victoria Indian $25, Alberni Indian $75, Victoria, East Indian, $100, Salt Spring Island $100.

Before the session closed the executive committee for the local presbytery was elected as follows: Rev. J. P. Westman, chairman; Rev. T. Keyworth, secretary; Rev. Dr. W. J. Shippley, Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, Rev. Dr. W. F. Burns, Mrs. George McGregor, J. Armstrong and Capt. T. H. Wright.

The presbytery adjourned until May 15, when the members will meet at the British Columbia Conference of the United Church in the Wesley Church, Vancouver.

ROYALTY PLAN COST $270,000

Uphill Only Member to Oppose Legislation Extending the Present Scale For Year

By maintaining timber royalties on their present basis for another year, the Government will lose about $270,000 which it would receive if these levies were increased, according to the Forest Act as it stands. Hon. F. P. Burden, Minister of Lands, informed the Legislature Wednesday night. This explanation was made as the House gave second reading to legislation extending the existing royalties to December 31, 1930.

The bill contains other minor amendments, among them one empowering police as well as fire rangers to call out fire fighters.

A strong warning to the House to avoid interference with the lumber industry was uttered by Hon. R. W. Bruhn, President of the Council, who explained the difficulties of the interior lumber operators. It was more valuable to the Province to stimulate industry than to collect a small additional revenue from increased royalties, he said.

Thomas Uphill, Labor member for Fernie, opposed the new legislation, declaring that the lumber interests deserved no such consideration when they were not treating their employees fairly and opposing a wage of forty cents an hour. Mr. Uphill was the only member to oppose the bill.

Party Veterans Outlawed At Thain Meeting

T. G. Coventry and Leonard Tait Among Those Put on Blacklist

Capt. Thain Denies Irregularities in Audit; Say Harmony Now Reigns in Ranks

At Capt. Thain's meeting last night in the Campbell Building, held behind closed doors and guarded by a bodyguard, twenty-three members of the McBride Conservative Club were declared outlawed for attending an illegal meeting of the club at which resolutions condemnatory of the Tolmie Government were passed.

Among those declared outlawed was T. G. Coventry, former member in the Legislature for Saanich, who resigned his seat in favor of Premier Tolmie and who is slated for a Government appointment. Mrs. Coventry was also declared outlawed.

Another declared outlawed was the veteran Conservative campaigner and stalwart supporter, Leonard Tait, known as one of the favored presiding chairmen at big Conservative public meetings.

Others also put on the outlawed list by Capt. Thain and solemnly named at the meeting, after which the ceremony was gone through of striking them off the roster, were: A. Lancaster, H. P. Brown, Mrs. Conacher, Charles Espley, J. M. Hughes, Mrs. A. Manchester, J. Lucas, Capt. R. P. Matheson, Sergeant-Major E. W. Maynard, P. E. Parker, P. J. Sinnott, Mrs. P. J. Sinnott, F. Skillings, G. Turner, Mrs. Turner, J. L. McLeod, J. Wilson, G. Clark and Mrs. G. Clark.

REASONS FOR OUTLAWING

The outlaw motion, which was read and passed, said: "Anyone directly or indirectly opposing the Conservative Party in any way, shape or form; or any members who attended illegal meetings of the club at which resolutions condemnatory of the present Government were passed; and any member who caused to be published in the Liberal newspapers the transactions of such meetings to the discredit of the party and entirely ignored the oath of secrecy, have therefore by this act made themselves ineligible for membership."

"Anyone directly or indirectly opposing the Conservative Party in any way, shape or form; or any members who attended illegal meetings of the club at which resolutions condemnatory of the present Government were passed; and any member who caused to be published in the Liberal newspapers the transactions of such meetings to the discredit of the party and entirely ignored the oath of secrecy, have therefore by this act made themselves ineligible for membership."

"The future of the McBride Club rests with you to-night. Some drastic action has to be taken. We have the support of these loyal supporters of Premier Tolmie."

Capt. Thain said that at the last meeting of the McBride Club, Vice-President Lancaster's faction had held an illegal session and had passed resolutions condemnatory of the present Government.

At the outset of the proceedings Mayor W. H. Malkin read the demands of the city, as agreed to at an informal conference of the City Council the previous day.

W. G. Murrin, president of the company, declared it was impossible to grant these demands, and several times reiterated the statement that he would rather go to arbitration, contending the system was not giving anything like a fair return on the capital invested.

For a time the prospect of an agreement seemed to be remote. Then the mayor took the points one by one and a more compromising spirit prevailed. The result was that a tentative understanding was arrived at on several points under discussion. The system was not giving anything like a fair return on the capital invested.

POINTS CLEARED UP

The points practically agreed upon were: Four tickets for 25 cents throughout the enlarged city; seven-cent cash fare; eight-school children's tickets for 25 cents.

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your child can't prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. ## AFRAID SHE WOULD NEVER BE WELL

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Completely Relieved Dyspepsia

Mrs. Omer Monette had tried so many remedies in her efforts to get rid of serious Stomach Troubles that she was almost afraid to try "Fruit-a-tives," fearing that this famous medicine would not help her. But, as she writes from Montreal, "I finally decided to do so. The first few tablets helped me and after taking three boxes I noticed a great change for the better. Now, I enjoy and digest everything I eat, and am happy to recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' to all my friends."

"Fruit-a-tives" is a combination of concentrated and transformed fruit juices and the most scientific medicinal ingredients. It acts directly on the stomach, liver, kidneys and skin; and brings these vital organs back to normal, healthy action.

If your stomach bothers you, try "Fruit-a-tives." 25c and 50c a box at dealers everywhere. (Adv.)

Government and had been guilty of breaking their oath of secrecy. He said that more than fifty per cent of the men in this faction were not qualified to vote.

"FEELING OF GLADNESS"

A resolution was passed expressing appreciation "for the manner in which Capt. Thain had been the buffer for the criticism levelled at the McBride Club" and also of confidence in Capt. Thain.

The meeting then turned into a session of general discussion, in which hopes were expressed for the future. The approved statement on the meeting for the press said that there was "a feeling of gladness that the air had been cleared and everything once more was harmonious."

It was decided that the next meeting would be held on the 21st inst. and that each pledged himself to bring one new member to the next meeting and "to spread the word that everything was once more harmonious."

New Fare Plan In Vancouver Is Discussed

City and B.C.E.R. Debate Four Tickets For 25 Cents as Basis

Vancouver, March 14.—After an approach to a deadlock, tentative agreement was reached on some of the points in dispute at a conference between the Vancouver City Council and the British Columbia Electric Railway Company at the City Hall yesterday afternoon. It proved to be the most strenuous session so far during the negotiations on the terms under which the street railway franchise should be renewed for another three years.

FIGHT ON FARES

Fares became the great stumbling block, and it was upon this important issue of the question that the battle chiefly turned. The fight on behalf of the city was for uniform fares throughout the whole of the enlarged area that now comprises the City of Greater Vancouver. To secure this, company officials want corresponding concessions, with a slight increase in rates in the old city area.

CITY'S DEMANDS

At the outset of the proceedings Mayor W. H. Malkin read the demands of the city, as agreed to at an informal conference of the City Council the previous day.

W. G. Murrin, president of the company, declared it was impossible to grant these demands, and several times reiterated the statement that he would rather go to arbitration, contending the system was not giving anything like a fair return on the capital invested.

For a time the prospect of an agreement seemed to be remote. Then the mayor took the points one by one and a more compromising spirit prevailed. The result was that a tentative understanding was arrived at on several points under discussion. The system was not giving anything like a fair return on the capital invested.

PRESENT FARES

The present cash fare in old Vancouver is 6 cents. Passengers for the Point Grey and South Vancouver areas can buy ten tickets for 70 cents, equal to 7 cents. If they have not these tickets, however, on passing the old city border line they have to put in another 6 cents, which makes a 12-cent cash fare.

Noble Defends Italia Expedition

Rome, March 14.—General Umberto Noble, commander of the ill-fated Italia North Pole expedition, has resigned from the Italian air service in order to vindicate himself against the findings of a recent commission which blamed him in great measure for the tragic loss of the Italian dirigible, with its toll of deaths.

The general, in a statement to the Associated Press yesterday, said he was glad to resign in order to be absolutely free, as a private citizen, to vindicate the Italia expedition and to tell all the truth concerning it.

ECZEMA CAUSED MUCH PAIN

On Fingers. Lasted Ten Years. Cuticura Healed.

"When I was two years old eczema broke out in a rash between my fingers and caused much pain. My fingers were swollen and inflamed. The itching and burning caused me to scratch, which made it worse. I lost sleep on account of it. The trouble lasted about ten years before we began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After one week's use it looked better, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." ## THE DUTY OF SOCIETY

The Halifax Herald

Society must be protected. Therefore, organized society makes laws and administers them. But in doing this it is the duty of organized society to conduct its own affairs that no inroad may be leveled against it. In other words, organized society—the Law of the State or whatever we may call it—in assuming the right to correct abuses and discipline offenders, assumes at the same time the responsibility for seeing that its own methods are creditable and right.

PROTECTING OUR HERITAGE

THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD NOT hesitate to accept Mr. Pattullo's amendment to the new Water Act that "no rights to the use of water shall be granted to any person in excess of the equivalent expressed in cubic feet per second of 40,000 h.p. without the sanction of the Legislature by resolution."

Mr. Pattullo realizes the very important part waterpower will play in British Columbia's industrial development, and it is necessary that such a valuable natural resource should be safeguarded in the public interest. The adoption of his amendment would emphasize the Legislature's control, and give practical effect to that control, over our waterpowers. Admittedly, the public does not benefit from its natural resources until money has been expended on their development; but the public has every right to its proper share of the proceeds of that development. Mr. Pattullo's amendment has been introduced with the object of providing adequate safeguards in this respect.

Yesterday, we pointed out that, while the legislation now before the House contains many desirable—in fact, necessary—provisions, it cannot become as effective as it should be unless it is administered by an adequate board. In this, of course, there is no criticism of the efficiency of the present Water Board. But as long as it shall remain a government department—as it would do under the proposed legislation—the exercise of its wide discretionary powers might result in decisions not always in the public interest.

THE WORLD'S RECORD

THE CIRCUMSTANCES SUR-rounding the tragedy at Daytona Beach gave to it a commanding place in the day's news. A motor car speed specialist was trying to break the record established by Major Segrave, the British driver, a few days ago, and the accident which killed him also killed the Pathe News cameraman who was photographing the trial.

Sacrifices on the altar of speed are now commonplace. They are occurring somewhere every hour of the day. They are the natural progeny of the mechanization of the world, in which everybody appears to be trying to do something faster than somebody else. Competition in physical speed is only one phase of this condition. People are burning themselves up in the same way by high-pressure mental activity. In fact, there are more casualties from this source than there are from any other form of racing, only no check is kept upon them.

The spirit of competition, of course, is as old as human history, but there have been periods when there was a greater desire on the part of people to do the best, not the fastest, job. Some day we may realize that the human effort that is best worth while is not a sprint, a spurt or a dash, that its most important ingredient is quality, not speed.

In physical speed, while the record of Major Segrave of 231 miles an hour seems impressive, it is being outclassed by everybody on earth every day. Indeed, the rate at which we are traveling makes the Segrave record snail-like in comparison. The world, with everything on it, is traveling through space at 1,100 miles a minute, or 66,000 miles per hour, which is nearly 300 times as fast as Major Segrave's car traveled the other day. At the same time, we are revolving upon the axis of the earth at a rate nearly five times as fast as the Segrave record. This reflection ought to satisfy anybody's speed mania.

We agree that there is no thrill to this; it is not even regarded as important news. But the reflection should have a sobering effect upon those who think they are performing almost a miracle when they are creeping along at the tortoise rate of several hundred miles an hour.

What is the use of anybody trying to beat the world's speed record of 66,000 miles an hour?

POOR STUFF

IT IS AMUSING TO OBSERVE critics of the King Government talking in a gloomy vein because the lumbermen of British Columbia are not selling more timber in the Antipodean market. But they really ought to thank the party in office for giving them a peg upon which to hang their approval of an effective trading arrangement which they attacked tooth and nail for more than two years.

Opposition speakers and newspapers told the country during the Federal election campaigns of 1925 and 1926 that the Canadian-Australian treaty would be ruinous to Canada's dairy industry and generally work a hardship in other directions. But they have discovered in the meantime that all the dire things that were to happen as a result of this inter-Empire trading arrangement have not happened, that Canada still is selling nearly four times as much to Australia as she is buying from that Dominion.

All that is left for these critics to do now, therefore, is to attack the King Government because it has not been able to persuade the Australian Government to put our lumber on a similar preferential basis to that enjoyed by other commodities in the low duty schedule. It adds to this criticism an attack on the Government because it has not yet subsidized a steamship service to assist the British Columbia lumbermen to market more of their lumber in the Antipodes in the meantime.

The Federal member for this constituency resorted to this sort of attack during his contribution to the budget debate. His parrot-like comments were typical of the type of criticism which the members of the party to which he belongs and the press which supports it have employed since their discovery that the treaty negotiated by the King Government was, as The Vancouver Province observed some time ago, a piece of sound business.

The Government knows, and it should be fairly obvious to everybody, that any revision of the treaty will have to be approached very cautiously. The present arrangement is far from popular in Australia. For the Commonwealth thinks—and it is right—that Canada is getting much the better of the bargain, and, as Mr. Robb very properly pointed out, if Canada is to increase her sales to Australia, she must be prepared to increase her purchases also.

Incidentally, only a very short time has elapsed, since the lumbermen of British Columbia approached the Dominion Government on the subject of a ship subsidy. That request was favorably received, and if all the Opposition members of the House of Commons have to criticize is that short delay in getting action, they must be pretty hard up for material. When they were in office they did their utmost to negotiate a treaty with Australia and failed. Like petulant children, they seem to be annoyed at Hon. J. A. Robb because he succeeded. In this cry the fable of the fox and the grapes has not outworn its application.

SEA AND LAND

CITY DWELLERS AT TIMES ARE apt to look upon their country cousins as inferior mortals, far from the hub of things and completely out of touch with everything that makes life worth living. But they occasionally experience a shock when a country cousin, explodes the bubble of this supposedly "superiority complex."

A woman in Cornwall recently wrote this letter to a well-known Old Country journal:

I read that "acres of luxury flats are being erected in London to let at from £600 to £3,000 a year," with every convenience obtainable by pressing a button.

Here, on the moor in Cornwall, between the two seas, a laborer pays from £4 to £6 a year for a home—a poor one, maybe, to city eyes. But at his door he has the smell of the sea in the wind; the scent of burning sticks in the open; the sound of water running over stones; the call of the mating bird; the sunlight on the gorse and, later on, on the heather, making it look like spilled wine.

Familiarity cannot dull this brightness; its contact invigorates and never enervates; its beauty is primitive and eternal.

Go on to many a Canadian farm and talk to the farmer when he is surveying his handiwork. He will tell you how he felled timber and cleared the brush from all that land now "billowy with its ripened grain"; how he lived in a tent until he could build his little shack from the timber he had fished with his own hands.

Ask him if he would leave "the scent of burning sticks in the open" for the smoke of the city. Not he.

ACTION AT LAST

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON INDI-cates that the United States at last is ready to conclude a treaty with Canada to provide for a more strict control over the salmon fishery on the Fraser River system. Our neighbor may rest assured that this country will readily place her signature on such a pact—as she has done before.

The story of the depletion of the sockeye salmon run is an old one. The late Mr. Sloan warned the members of the International Fisheries Commission when it met in Vancouver more than ten years ago of the dangers of unrestricted fishing in the Fraser River system. Mr. Babcock, with his long knowledge of conditions, roundly emphasized that, warning. Twice Canada did her part; but certain influences in the United States persuaded the Senate at Washington to delay action. And so only one signature went on those treaties. But the reality of the situation now appears to have impressed the lawmakers at the United States capital.

It now is proposed that an international commission be appointed to deal with conditions governing the fishery. This body will say what amount of fishing shall be done, if and when there shall be a cessation of fishing, and generally determine what restrictions shall be imposed in order to restore the Fraser River salmon resources.

On this commission, of course, there will be British Columbia representatives. There should be one from Vancouver Island.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, March 14, 1904

Thrown in among breakers on a dark and stormy night and with huge combers sweeping the vessel for eight hours, the wreck of the Victoria sailing schooner Penelope, Captain Dan Macaulay, in Clallam Bay last week stands out among the most thrilling episodes of the sea that has happened on the coast this winter.

The Victoria Tourist Association has prepared a new booklet for the coming season. It is now being printed, and it will be ready for distribution this week.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and Vicinity—Moderate to fresh winds, unsettled and cold, with sleet or rain.

The Victoria Friendly held its ninth annual meeting in the City Hall yesterday afternoon. There was a good attendance of members, who manifested deep interest in the various reports. The president, Miss Perrin, in the course of her address, expressed the view that the treasurer's report, while satisfactory, might show a larger balance.

After the basketball game between the Victoria and Nanaimo teams on Saturday evening, members of the Victoria West Athletic Association entertained the visitors to a dinner at the Maryland restaurant.

A delegation of the Victoria Tourist Association, headed by Mayor Barnard, the president, waited upon James Dunsmuir this morning and presented the claims of the organization before him. Mr. Dunsmuir expressed his appreciation of the services rendered by the association, and did so in a very practical manner by renewing his subscription of $500 towards it.

The basketball championship of British Columbia was captured by Victoria West by 15-7 in an exciting contest with Nanaimo at the Drill Hall, Saturday night.

This Heritage of Ours

On behalf of Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.E., these lines are respectfully dedicated to the Honorable Robert Langstaff Bruce, Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia, in commemoration of the founding of Port Victoria, March 14, 1843.

Hail happy morn, whose jovial rays
Rejoice the threshold of the past
Whose realms are life with roundelay,
Sweet as Arcadian choirs massed.
Nor marvel with what strains of bliss,
Or with what joy our lips resound,
When we behold such scenes as this Where once the grail-bearer frowned.

Lo! these sweet-scented flowers that bloom
Luxuriously on every hand,
These lovely meadows that loom
By our north temperate breezes fanned,
These smiling acres, lush and green,
These fruitful trees with fruitage blest,
These leafy lanes, these stiles serene,
All tribute to the Adventurer's quest.

These shimmering seas that kiss the hem
Of yonder snow-capped mountains,
Where rests the Jovian diadem
Bejeweled with perpetual snow—
These, and ten thousand blessings more,
They slumbered whose deeds we now recall:
Who planned on this favored shore
The noblest emblem of them all.

Such goodly heritage, behold!
No vain eulogies require;
Nor monolith, though it were gold,
E'er measured fame such real prize.
Thrice happy morn, that bids us yield
Their homage on this day of days
When our most serious tasks are ended,
And merited the patriot's praise.

—JEANNE VALDEZ.

Mr. Pooley breaks everyone's heart by saying there will be a ninth week. The farmers of Fraser Valley have their day—crowding the galleries and cheering on their champion as he fights gallantly for the Milk Bill—but going home no wiser about its fate.

The House finished Wednesday with a broken heart and blasted hopes. Mr. Pooley broke it and blasted them in by announcing that he simply couldn't do it, meaning, of course, that the session couldn't be wound up this week. This shocking news came just before dinner time, and no one had any appetite afterwards. For once the House gets into the ninth week of this session, which was going to be so short and snappy no man knoweth what may happen or when we shall go home.

Well, at least the House knows the worst now, the horrible uncertainty of the last few days is removed, and the slaughter of legislative innocents which had been in prospect may not occur after all. Up to Mr. Pooley's announcement no one really believed this thing could go on past Saturday night. Everybody thought that the Opposition, after recording moral objections to the Government and all its works, would be ready to let it go at that, while the Government was believed ready to let it go at that since the opening day. In this foot's paradise the House has been dwelling along until the Attorney-General brought it up with a round turn. Now, while wives and children wait long and consistently pine away for the return of absent members, anything may happen.

For about five years there used to be beer sessions. The flag-end of this one apparently is to be a milk-and-water session, but probably of more potency than the name suggests. From now until the hour of its happy release the House is going to spend its time largely on milk and water, for of all remaining measures to be dealt with the Milk Bill and the new Water Act are by far the most important.

The House got its first real taste of milk Wednesday, when 200 determined-looking farmers from the Fraser Valley came down here to crowd the public galleries and root for their fighting champion, Mr. Berry. It was a scene such as the House has not witnessed for many a year, not, indeed, since the days just after the war when the unemployed of Victoria used to turn the Parliament Buildings at frequent and hectic intervals.

These farmers from the Fraser Valley had come over from the mainland, sitting up on the boat all night, to show the House that they want the Milk Bill passed, and they left no doubt about it. They sat peering down on the House eagerly drinking in every word that Mr. Berry said about the Milk Bill, and though it is strictly contrary to the honorable traditions of British parliaments, they applauded him wildly. Some of the procedure experts called impulsively for order, but it would have taken a small army of men to stop them from showing Mr. Berry that they were proud of him.

Mr. Berry, in fact, made without question and beyond all comparison the best speech the House has heard from a private member this session or in any recent session. He did not have to agree with the Milk Bill, but he realized that here was a man who knew what he was talking about, believed it with all his heart and was getting his message across to every member in the assembly. But for the intermittent applause of his friends in the gallery there was almost complete silence as he spoke, which is a privilege accorded to few.

All the trials and hardships of the men who till the soil of this Province, the farmer's smouldering sense of injustice, all his age-old demand that he shall control the sale of the things he produces, were thundered out in Mr. Berry's burning sentences. And there was a natural, justified demand for more and paths in his description of the returned soldiers who are struggling to sell one can or half a can of milk a day, with which not shared, perhaps by any other member of this assembly. You don't have to think anything of the Milk Bill to think that Mr. Berry made a really fine utterance.

Mr. Dick enlivened the afternoon with a running, staccato comment in his own inimitable style, and some unknown humorist added an abetted hymn by sending in to Mr. Berry on a silver tray a large tumbler of milk. He did not attempt to reduce the notorious milk surplus by drinking it, however.

the new charter, but against hopeless odds.

The afternoon thus was devoted entirely to two major subjects in which everyone is interested. In the evening, by way of a change, the House turned to minor or technical legislation about which no one can get enthusiastic and which, as a result, makes extraordinary progress. If the truth were known the House, after several late nights, was not feeling up to any more fighting and the Fraser Valley farmers, who had come again to the galleries, hoping to hear more of their beloved Milk Bill waited in vain for it to appear. Mr. Kirk was due to speak on it, and explain the negotiations which he has carried on with amazing industry in an attempt to settle the milk problem, but his speech was postponed. The farmers boarded the midnight boat and went home without knowing whether their milk bill would survive the next few days or not. The House, on the other hand, did not know what the farmers thought of it, which opinion, if it could be ascertained, undoubtedly would be interesting.

While the House thus was deeply dilly in the evening many people were watching it with fixed attention. The halls of parliament in these latter days are fairly crowded with mysterious gentlemen who are afraid the House may do something it shouldn't, or to do something it should. Such fears, from the standpoint of these gentlemen, probably are well founded, and as the legislation yet to be passed affects a large diversity of commercial interests, there is much agitation and there are many serious faces in the smoke-filled lobbies of this tired Legislature.

Oldfield Heads Fruitgrowers

Re-elected President By Saanich Fruit Growers' Association

The annual meeting of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association was held last night at the Keating Temperance Hall, more than one hundred members attending. H. C. Oldfield was re-elected president. Other officers named were: Vice-president, C. B. McCarthy; manager, H. E. Tanner; directors, J. N. Wood, R. M. McIntosh, W. Kersey and Capt. E. Lively.

Reports were presented by the directors and President Oldfield, the latter remarking upon the necessity of an aggressive sales policy and maintenance of high standards of quality, especially in strawberries.

H. E. Tanner forecast a more profitable year for the growers than had been experienced last year. The meeting was informed that arrangements have been concluded for provision of adequate cold storage facilities for berries. The new method of handling fresh fruit had won the support of the jam manufacturers and would be fully employed by the Saanich fruit growers.

Experimental shipments of frozen strawberries to Australia had proven most successful and this business was expected to develop despite competition. The meeting was addressed on plant diseases by Dr. W. Newton, plant pathologist at the Sidney Experimental Farm. Diseases were almost impossible to cure and investigators were concentrating attention upon preventive measures.

Dr. Newton discussed the drying up of logs, recently notable in parts of Saanich. He considered that improvement following spraying indicated possibility of fungous origin, but suggested that soil poverty may be the cause. Frost injuries were also discussed.

After this preliminary session on milk the House turned to the Canadian North Eastern Railway charter and spent the rest of the afternoon on it. ### THE LITTLE SICK CHILD

Sickness comes to all of us at some time or other. The very, very sick child represents a small problem. He demands, little attention. He is too sick to care for it. It is the days of his convalescence that are trying. He must be wheeled into waiting the food that will build him up again. He grows tired of holding toys. He grows tired of everything. His mother relieves of his anxiety is apt to become irritable, too. It is a trying period.

There are dangers in the convalescent period that do not always appear until afterwards. If the child is one who has had little attention in his lifetime, this exaggerated concern for his welfare, this family effort to please him and wait upon him is too pleasant, an experience, to relinquish. He wants to remain in the role of an invalid because this role is proving immensely satisfactory to him. If the mother has been a constant attendant at his bedside, he is liable to develop strange ailments when she disappears in order that she may be brought back again. Unless this attention is tapered off gradually, the child will use the knowledge he has gained during his illness in order to command attention at will. He knows if he says, "I believe I have a little sore throat," that he will be put to bed and cooed. No child is above using such methods of obtaining attention; and in really exaggerated cases, a mother can date the beginnings of behavior troubles from the time of some serious illness when the child was showered and swamped with the combined courtesies of the family.

It behooves the mother then to begin as soon as the child shows improvement and lead him gently back to independence again. She must leave him alone to amuse himself for periods in the day. She must encourage in him the belief that now since he is getting better, he must consider again other persons besides himself, and cease useless demands upon their time. If the mother does this, the child will soon be eager to be about again. He will see that there is more satisfaction to be gained from activity and independence than in inactivity and being a leaver. He can learn this only if the parent, when he is healthy, gives him enough attention so that he never learns through illness the attractions of being the centre of the family stage.

CHRYSLER DETAILS NEW SKYSCRAPER

Only a "Personal Investment," Says Motor Magnate;
To Be 68 Storeys

Will Be World's Tallest Building; Elevators to Go Fast

New York, March 14.—Walter P. Chrysler announced the details of his newest project—the tallest skyscraper in the world. The head of Chrysler Motors said there were no squabbling giants as his personal investment, having nothing to do with the automobile corporation.

The building will occupy a site facing Lexington Avenue between 42nd and 43rd Streets, its neighbors, such pygmies as the fifty-two story Chanin Building, the diminutive Graybar Building and the barely perceptible New York Central Building.

The Chrysler skyscraper will be 800 feet high, overtopping the 792 feet of the Woolworth Building and exceeding only by the Eiffel Tower in Paris—which is uninhabitable and consequently should not count.

Demolition of the old buildings on the site began October 15, was finished in twenty-one days. Excavation started November 11 and has now progressed to a point fifty feet below street level. The skyscraper is estimated to cost $15,000,000. The elevators will go as fast as 900 feet a minute, and if an express car were to make a non-stop run it would go the entire distance in less than a minute.

Architects say 11,000 people can be comfortably housed. Traffic will be handled by 150 men. About 900,000 feet of floor space will be scrubbed and swept daily by 150 employees. There will be 3,750 windows to be cleaned. The total volume of the building will be 13,500,000 cubic feet, with one square foot of rental area to every 144 cubic feet in this total. The foundations are on solid rock of Manhattan Island—and well they might be. The eastern boundary of this structure was the centre of the old Boston Post Road in the seventeenth century. The dome will be twelve stories on the building proper of fifty-six stories—sixty-eight stories in all, and enough.

PATTULLO CHALLENGES GOVERNMENT TO NAME STEVEN'S PARTNERS

He warned the Government that by granting the charter they faced a threat of having another P.G.E. problem on their hands. With the road started and several thousands of people going into the country and a danger of the company becoming defunct, there was no doubt that these people would come to the Government seeking relief. The Government would be asked to take over a defunct railway.

Mr. Pattullo said it was a duty of the two major railways of Canada to open up new country in Canada where spade work had to be done as well as to operate in the centres of traffic where business was assured. There was no doubt the Dominion Government was prepared to give a charter in recognition of their responsibilities in this direction. They had indicated that the two systems were to make a survey in British Columbia, but now it was proposed to give a charter in a country of which much less was known than the country through which the P.G.E. ran. This move was being made without consultation with the two companies, notwithstanding the fact that British Columbia was negotiating with them for the sale of the P.G.E.

DIRECTORS SATISFIED

Colonel Nelson Spencer said this subject had been before the directors of the P.G.E. and they had consulted with the two great systems and found they had no objections to the construction of a line over the proposed route. The P.G.E. directors were in touch with the two companies and no move would be made without consulting the two systems now negotiating to take over the P.G.E. The Legislature had no right to put a curb on private enterprise, he argued, and said investigations had established the bona fides of the men interested.

Speaking for the Government in the absence of Premier Tomin, Mr. Pooley said the Government was satisfied, after investigation, of the bona fides of the promoters. Because a Conservative was at the head was no reason why the matter should be viewed with suspicion. The Government was not giving a cash subsidy or land subsidy. It was simply giving a charter. British Columbia wanted industry. It wanted the country opened up and should put nothing in the way of development.

MANSON ASSAILS CHARTER

A. M. Manson, Liberal of Omineca, in a vigorous attack on the proposed charter, declared that except for small local lines, railway development in Canada should be left to the two great transcontinental systems. Private enterprise in the past had made conspicuous blunders in railway ventures, he recalled, and the cost to the people of Canada had run into untold millions.

The proposed line would be a grave threat to the P.G.E., he went on, as the latter road must be tied up to the producing territory of the Peace River if it were ever to be made to pay and probably if it were ever to be sold. In the same way, the new line could not pay unless it tapped the Peace River country, for it would cost about $85,000,000, including equipment, and its overhead, therefore, would be enormous. It was impossible to figure these facts exactly, he pointed out, as the engineer of the railway company had given the Private Hills Committee only a guess as to the actual length of the line. Agricultural products in the country to be covered under the proposed charter would not pay axle grease on the railway for ten years, and it was impossible to foresee the mining tonnage available, he declared.

It was true, he said, that the charter would not allow the line to go to the Peace and thus compete with the P.G.E. there, but this was all the more reason for not granting it. Prevented from entering the only sure source of tonnage, the railway could not pay. While the Province was not directly bound to accept its losses, in the end it could not escape responsibility for them, he warned.

"Let them build fifty or 100 miles of line and fall and the Province would be bound to see it through," he declared. "When people establish themselves on the line we cannot let them remain there to starve."

Mr. Manson demanded a statement from the Premier giving facts to show the financial responsibility of those behind the project and suggested that the Premier had not had time to ascertain these facts himself yet.

"Who are these people behind the scheme?" he demanded. "Why conceal their identity?"

It was regrettable the scheme did not come from railway men, he added. Instead, it was sponsored by Hon. H. H. Stevens, who had been "a conspicuous failure" in financial matters and in three prominent promotions. He suggested in conclusion that the company operate a short line on Portland Canal to prove its ability before expanding further.

URGES CAUTION

Dr. H. C. Winch said, being private enterprise, it might encroach on rights of people of the Province. The Leader of the Government had said no rights were asked for except a charter, yet usually when a company sought to build a line through a country, they applied for privileges by way of grants of resources to secure feeders for the line. Not sufficient reasons had been given to the House to warrant it in supporting the charter, especially as it had been shown in debate that other interests were liable to be jeopardized.

He urged caution after the Government's previous experience in railway matters, when there was a danger of having not one but two pet white elephants left on the Government's hands. There were two transcontinental railways now, and if this was to be a portion of a third, it was in advance of its time, yet it could not be a success alone, he submitted.

H. F. Kergin said the people of the "Precious little use I have for a washboard now...

Yet my wash is whiter than ever!"

YOU'll say that too! Just as thousands of other women have... when you begin using Rinso.

Of course, many women think at first that it is expecting too much... to get a snowy white wash with little or no rubbing. But their first wash with Rinso ends all their doubts.

It's the rich, thick suds of Rinso that make the difference... they have such remarkable cleansing power... yet are so gentle.

Then why should you or anyone else, cling to old ways of washing when the modern Rinso way saves your strength and time yet safely washes the clothes snowy white?

You can actually soak the clothes clean with Rinso

Just leave them for a while in the rich Rinso suds... You won't need to boil them and only the very soiled parts will require a light little rub between the fingers. On the other hand if you wash with a machine the thick rich Rinso suds absorb the dirt marvellously well and suds last until all the washing is done.

Thirty-two makers of washing machines recommend the use of Rinso.

And the best of it is—that Rinso is all you need. No bar soaps... chips... or powders... Just Rinso.

Your very next washday is your opportunity to prove what Rinso can do for you. Get a package from your grocer. Follow the easy directions and you'll get the whitest wash you ever had.

Smiling and Happy
Pete Muldoon Had Not Single Enemy

Fine Tribute is Paid to Late Manager of Seattle Hockey Club by Frank Patrick, President of Pacific Coast Hockey League; Terrible Blow to Hockey, He Says; Both Frank and Stanley Patrick En Route to Seattle; Muldoon Was Great Advocate of Clean Living.

Vancouver, March 14.—The death of Pete Muldoon, manager of the Seattle Hockey Club, yesterday, was a severe blow not only to hockey, but to sport generally. Frank A. Patrick, president of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, declared last night.

"It's terrible," said Mr. Patrick. "Nothing has ever affected me like this before. Pete was like a brother to me. It's a terrible blow. In all my eighteen years of business with Pete our relations have always been of the best. The Pacific Coast Hockey League has suffered an irreparable loss."

"I don't know how we can replace him. Pete had had many years' experience in various kinds of sport and we always sought his advice before undertaking any new ventures, or making any important decisions. His experience was invaluable to us."

"It was all so sudden. Never at any time did Pete hint to us of any trouble like this, or mention that he might go so suddenly."

Patrick's voice broke as he talked of Pete, and paid his late associate a final compliment.

HAD NOT AN ENEMY.

"In eighteen years of association with Pete," Patrick continued, "I have never had one cross word with him. Not one. He was always smiling and happy and well liked by everyone. He had not an enemy."

Patrick stated that he was leaving yesterday night for Seattle. Stanley Patrick of the Victoria club, called on the long distance phone, announced that he too was leaving for the Sound city.

With the passing yesterday of Pete Muldoon, manager of the Seattle Eskimos of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, one of the greatest advocates of clean living, clean sports and fair play, was removed from the sport world. Muldoon was famous for his advice to young athletes to live the "straight and narrow" and he himself never drank or smoked at any time during his life.

Muldoon had thousands of friends throughout the North American continent and they were shocked at news of his death. Muldoon had prided himself on his apparent fine physical condition.

USED AEROPLANE.

An interesting sidelight on "Pious Pete," as he was known throughout the sport world, is recalled. While managing the Seattle Metropolitans in the old Western Hockey League Muldoon was bringing his team to Victoria for a game with the Cougars. Upon reaching the dock at Seattle to embark for Victoria it was found that Jim Riley, one of the Seattle players, had forgotten his skates. Muldoon stayed behind and got the late Eddie Hubbard to bring him and the skates to Victoria in the mail plane. That was the first time in history that an aeroplane was used for carrying skates.

Muldoon, whose real name was Linton Muldoon Tracey, born in Nova Scotia and as a youth became interested in athletics, playing hockey, basketball, lacrosse and boxing.

WORKED HIS WAY UP.

As trainer of Vancouver lacrosse teams, Muldoon drew the notice of the Pacific through his clean living and keen understanding of athletes. He was given a chance with hockey teams, eventually working himself up to become manager of the Seattle club.

Muldoon began his spectacular career as a boxer of the welterweight class. He held the Pacific Northwest lightweight amateur championship before turning "pro." Shortly after joining the moneyed ranks Muldoon hung up his gloves.

He was at the managerial helm of the Metropolitans when they won the world's championship in 1918. He managed Seattle's team in the Western Hockey League and went to Portland as manager when Seattle dropped out of the hockey league.

During the season of 1926-27, following the sale of the Western Canada League players to Eastern interests Muldoon handled the Chicago Black Hawks.

He played a leading part in the development of lacrosse in Western Canada. In addition to his activities as a promoter he owned and operated casinos at race tracks and amusement resorts.

This year, in partnership with Nate Drumman, Muldoon organized the Seattle Hockey Club.

Anti-shock Golf Clubs Are Latest

Chicago, March 14.—Anti-shock iron and clubs that add from forty to fifty yards to the average player's distance are the latest "achievement" claimed by golf manufacturers. They are being displayed at Chicago's golf show this week.

The anti-shock clubs are faintly reminiscent of the "rubber suspension" of automobile motors. In the joint between the shaft and head of the iron, a sheet of rubber is inserted. Manufacturers claim this eliminates the shock of impact, insures more accurate approach, soothes ragged nerves and saves the hands from colic.

Trail Players
Are Ineligible

Vancouver, March 14.—Kemp, goalie, and Houbregs, defence man, of the Trail Smoke-Eaters, senior amateur champions of British Columbia, have been declared ineligible because of the residence rule, to play in the Allan Cup play-downs against High River, Alta. It was announced here last night by officials of the British Columbia Amateur Union. It is understood that substitute players will replace Kemp and Houbregs.

Agernon Is Latest Hope
In Coffroth

W. R. Coe's Four-year-old Colt Beats Bunch of Hopes For Handicaps

Is Son of Fair Play, Sire of Famous Man-o'-War; Genie, Still Favorite

San Diego, Cal., March 14.—What was regarded by onlookers as a real possibility for the Coffroth Handicap, to be run at the Tia Juana track Sunday, flashed across the line yesterday afternoon in the Burlingame Handicap of a male, and an eighth when Agernon, sturdy young four-year-old colt, foal W. R. Coe's stable, beat a bunch of Coffroth Handicap hopes. Doctor Wilson of the Canyon stable was second and Alexander Pantages, owned by and named for the theatrical magnate, was third.

Hydromel, the big horse from Senator J. N. Camden's barn, finished fourth.

All of the leaders except Agernon have received large support in the pre-race figuring. The Coe runner had a lead of three lengths as he reached the judges' stand. He was ridden by Jockey George Wolff, who was to have ridden Ervast, now declared out, in the big race Sunday. Agernon made the distance in 1:53 1/5, which was considered good time in view of the fact that showers Tuesday night had left the footing slow.

GENIE IS FAVORITE.

Several of the Coffroth candidates which were not in the "Preparation" race yesterday, took workouts yesterday morning. Much interest still is held in the chances of Genie, son of Man of War, which was installed favorite for the Coffroth some time ago. Yesterday's race made it evident, however, that Genie would have to do a lot of running with his 120-pound impost to win Sunday.

An interesting angle came out of Agernon's victory yesterday. He is a son of Fair Play, sire of the famous Man of War, while Genie, Gifford A. Cochran's hope for the big race, is a son of Man of War. Agernon has been carefully trained for the race by E. L. Fitzgerald, who received many compliments after his student was unsaddled. Agernon's owner, W. R. Coe, is identified with Wall Street and in Wyoming oil.

The great stretch runner Hydromel, whom many fancy for the Coffroth, ran a smashing race yesterday, charging up in the last few hundred feet to be a good fourth, only about three and a half lengths behind the leader. As the game Sunday will be an eighth of a mile longer than yesterday's, Hydromel's supporters are still very hopeful.

PANTAGES FANCED.

Alexander Pantages' victory in the Speed Handicap a month ago at the Border course has led his owner and trainer to believe that he stands a fine chance in the Coffroth. The horse, however, had not been in a race since February 10, and that may have been a good reason for his defeat yesterday.

The great stretch runner Hydromel, whom many fancy for the Coffroth, ran a smashing race yesterday, charging up in the last few hundred feet to be a good fourth, only about three and a half lengths behind the leader. As the game Sunday will be an eighth of a mile longer than yesterday's, Hydromel's supporters are still very hopeful.

Laird's Kicks
Help Central Win Rugby Cup

Young Player Scores Nine Points in Game in Which University School Beaten

Winners Presented With Cowichan Cup; Score 7-0 at Half-time

Doug Laird's kicking played a big part in Central School's 15-0 victory over University School in the final Cowichan Cup rugby game at the Willows yesterday. In the first half of the match Laird gave his team a second point-lead when he sent the ball between the uprights on a field goal and a penalty kick.

Central opened on the attack and drove University back to its line. Following a twenty-five-yard scam, the grade school boys forced the ball over, but University touched down for a twenty-five yard kick.

University retaliated with a three-quarter run to Central's end, but Doug Anderson returned play to the Mount Toimie boys' area on an individual attempt. Doug Laird secured the ball and sent it between the posts with a neat drop kick.

SCORES AGAIN.

Laird scored again on a penalty kick shortly after, to give his team a seven-point lead.

University opened a whirlwind attack at the beginning of the second half and forced Central to their line. Central, however, put up a stonewall defence and held the attackers from going over.

With about ten minutes of the game left, Central's back division swung into action and Ken Cusance scored after a nice run. Laird missed the kick from a difficult angle.

Shortly after Central again forced play into University's ground. Following a loose scam, Sid Gaunt secured the ball and raced over to plant it between the posts for the final score of the day. Laird converted with a good kick.

PRESENTS CUP.

At the close of the game P. F. Curtis congratulated the teams on their showing and presented the Cowichan

The Hamilton Flash — By Jimmy Thompson

The indoor meet to be staged at Hamilton next week should provide lots of interest all over the country many out-of-town competitors and fans are expected to attend.

Hamilton got away to a good start in track and field contests last Summer and has been in the lead ever since. The Ambitious City was particularly well represented during recent big meets in the United States, and her stalwart sons have done her justice and spread her reputation as an athletic center.

Raymond Lewis of Central Collegiate Institute, Hamilton, looked like a million dollars at these American meets, his easy style compelling the admiration of thousands of enthusiastic spectators. At present Raymond is in the scholastic track championship of Canada, and unless there is an unexpected upset he should give the crowd a real thrill at Hamilton Armories next week.

Montreal Canadiens and Maroons Play To-night in Final Clash of Season

Detroit With Slim Chance of Taking Second Place Will Battle Boston

Toronto, March 14.—A strange combination of contests marks tonight's National Hockey League schedule. Two teams, the New York Rangers and the Detroit Red Wings, find a great deal of importance attached to their meeting with Chicago and Boston, but for the rest it makes no particular difference whether they win or lose.

In third place and only two points behind, the second place Rangers, Detroit must win tonight's game to keep its slim chance of finishing second. A victory is useless if the Rangers also beat Chicago to-night or Pittsburgh Sunday.

The Rangers, with their hopes somewhat strengthened by the news that Ching Johnson, star defence man, probably will be back in the game in time for the play-offs with his broken ankle as good news, should win over the tail-enders, Montreal's two teams, Canadiens and Maroons, meet in their final intra-city clash which should be a warm struggle.

The fourth game to-night brings the New York Americans and Toronto Maple Leafs, second and third in the international section together.

English Cricket
Team Scores 212
For Six Wickets

Kingston, Jamaica, March 14.—Julian Cahn's touring English cricket team yesterday scored 212 runs for six wickets in its third test match with Jamaica. Sandham, the famous international cricketer, batted for four hours compiling 116, not out.

Cup to Alex Gaunt, captain of the Central fifteen.

During the match some exceptionally good rugby was seen and fine work in both back and forward divisions lent interest to the encounter which was seen by a good crowd of spectators.

Captain Coventry refereed.

The teams were as follows: Boys' Central—O'Connell, Phillon, Anderson, A. Gaunt, Cusance, Parkin, Laird, Barnswell, Dowell, Hughes, McBretnay, Alexis, Parsons, Holland and S. Gaunt.

University School—Carpenter, I. Emery, Rowe, Mackie, Baker, H. Vides, Poyntz, Baynes, Roberts, Beck, Fogle, Parker, H. Swanson, H. Callahan and P. Gault.

Farrell and Sarazen Will

Meet Walter Hagen and Leo Diegel in Finals of Four-ball Tournament

Champions Reach Finals By Win Over Willie MacFarlane and Hampton

Miami, Fla., March 14.—Favorites survived the semi-finals of the annual international four-ball tournament yesterday and to-day Johnny Farrell, national open champion, and Gene Sarazen, will defend their crown against Walter Hagen, British open champion, and Leo Diegel, professional golf association titlist, in the thirty-six-hole final.

Farrell and Sarazen turned back Willie MacFarlane, of Westchester, N.Y., and Harry Hampton, Chicago, 6 and 5, while Hagen and Diegel fought tougher going to eliminate Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N.Y., and Henry Clud, Bridgeport, Conn., 2 and 1.

Hagen and Diegel finished the first eighteen holes one down and started the afternoon eighteen grimly determined. Diegel early gave himself and Hagen a lead, taking the first hole in the afternoon to square the match, then dropped an eagle 3 to go ahead. He and Hagen took the next hole and maintained their margin to the seventeenth where they won.

NEVER IN DANGER.

Farrell and Sarazen altered their previous game in the morning round of their semi-final match. Unlike their previous matches the defending champions started the day early and at none of the turns were they in danger.

Sarazen shot his second eagle in two days, and Turnesa likewise accounted for an eagle.

Far golf was the average for the day, with efforts to better the customary marks going to little avail in the face of a strong wind that whipped the course.

Canada Wins
From England

Score Is 42-27 in Carpet Bowling Match; Doubles Will Be Played To-night

Canada scored an easy victory over England, in the international match staged last night at the Crystal Garden as part of the championship tournament. The final score was: Canada 42, England 27.

In the first international match between Scotland and Canada a draw was the result, each team scoring thirty-two points.

The next game in this series is scheduled for Saturday night between Scotland and England.

To-night's doubles will be played with singles to-morrow night. On Saturday night following the international match night singles will be played.

Last night's scores in the novice singles follow: Walter 19, Morrow 13; Richardson 15, Childs 12; Ivatts 13, Gornall 8; Both 15, Prior 3; Townshead 15, Holloway 9; Baker 15, Bond 3; Conner 15, Greenside 15; Eastham 15, Conner 9; Mayfield 13, Lowe 9.

Furious Race Being Staged For Honors
In English Soccer

Aston Villa, Favored by Many, Have Dropped to Sixth Place in First Division; Leicester City Now in Better Position Than Sunderland to Cop Honors; Blackburn Will Meet Newcastle This Week; Rangers Making Headway in Scottish First Division.

The race for the English League championship becomes fast, furious and exciting, and in the subordinate divisions it is equally interesting. In Scotland, however, the victory promises to be a runaway one.

Of the five leaders in the English League, three of them absolutely failed to deliver the goods on Saturday, the other two partially so. None of the Cup semi-finalists won their games. One of them lost at home, one lost while visiting; the other two drew with their opponents' ground.

It was lucky for the two leaders to have sufficient in hand to hold their positions, but Aston Villa, whose chances looked so rosy last week, and on whom great reliance was placed to bring off the double event, stepped down from third to sixth place at the situation, at the conclusion of last Saturday's games, shows that Leicester City, by reason of a home win over Manchester City, takes Aston Villa's place and Aston Villa, by reason of a home defeat in their local Derby, occupies the position vacated by Leicester City. Leeds United are still above Everton and Woolwich Arsenal are ahead of Newcastle and Huddersfield.

The results of First Division mid-week games, in which Birmingham drew with Woolwich Arsenal, Newcastle beat Aston Villa, Portsmouth drew with Blackburn Rovers and Liverpool beat West Ham, do not affect the present League standings.

POOR DEFENCES.

Illustrating the neck-and-neck struggle more acutely, mention is made that only four goals divided the aggregates of the home teams and the visiting ones. Twenty-two teams got forty-two goals in the ratio of twenty-three to nineteen. Only five home teams won their games, there were four draws and the remaining two, Liverpool and Aston Villa, being beaten at home. A series of shocks descended on soccer followers on Saturday, chief among which was the fruitless trip of the wonder team to Cardiff, for Sheffield Wednesday could not prevent the home team from scoring three goals and getting both points.

Analysis of the First Division table reveals some very interesting and surprising figures. Sheffield Wednesday and Sunderland have nine more games each to play. Should the Wednesday lose two of them and Sunderland win all their games with the same average margin the latter team would win the championship by a portion of a single goal. Figure for forty-four games, the remaining two, Liverpool and Aston Villa, being beaten at home. ## Snared By Garden

RAOLINO UZCUDUN

New York, March 14.—Raolino Uzcudun, the Spanish angle of the heavyweight triangle most favored to produce the next champion, placed his near future last night in the hands of the Madison Square Garden Corporation.

The squat Basque with the aid of his large managerial cabinet, debated for several hours a contract giving the Garden exclusive right to his professional services for one year and then signed the document. The snaring of Raolino gave the Garden a virtual monopoly on the three heavyweights Carey plans to send against each other this summer in a brief series of outdoor spectacles calculated to produce a new heavyweight king.

With Jack Dempsey all but counted out of active glove slinging, the Garden believes that the field of contenders has narrowed down to Raolino, Sharkey and the soaking reproduction of Dempsey, Max Schmelling.

Nanaimo Hoopsters
Win Island Title

Nanaimo, March 14.—Nanaimo senior "B" basketball team defeated Duncan here last night for the Island championship, the score being 22-16. They won the series of two games by 36-31. Nanaimo next meet First United Excelsiors in Vancouver, on March 19, in a sudden-death game. Last night's play was very fast, the score time and again being tied. Neither team had a substantial margin until the last few minutes of play, when Nanaimo scored two baskets and held the lead.

Newcastle in the hope of redeeming the confidence of their supporters over last week's downfall, although their ineptitude enabled Manchester United to get another step farther from the bottom rung. Singularly enough, Huddersfield's figures through the table agree exactly with those of Birmingham, except in comparison to success of attack and defence.

BOTH NEED POINTS.

Manchester City are due at Upton Park to fulfil a return engagement with West Ham. Neither of them are yet clear of the danger zone and keenness will predominate for the points.

Sheffield Wednesday's game at Leicester will undoubtedly be the most interesting and entertaining of the series, and promises to be exceedingly close. Sunderland were an unlucky team last week at Newcastle, the odd goal being scored by a single point, but have an opportunity on Saturday to make amends by their entertainment of the plucky Bury.

GUARANTEE TO HOLD UP MILK BILL ONE YEAR

Berry Makes Strong Plea For Passage of Equalization Measure

Prices Not Affected, He Tells House, as 200 Farmers
Watch From Galleries

Absolute guarantee that if the Milk Bill is passed it will not be brought into force for a year, and that during this period the Fraser Valley Milk Producers Association will negotiate for a business agreement with independent distributors, was given to the Legislature Wednesday by J. W.
Berry, Conservative, Delta, when he pleaded for the passage of this much-discussed measure.

The public, Mr. Berry declared in one of the most notable speeches delivered by a private member in the House for some sessions, is absolutely protected from exploitation under the Milk Bill, while it is vital to the success of the whole dairy industry. All the farmers seek, he said, is a chance to share and share alike in the cost of handling surplus milk products.

As Mr. Berry spoke, 200 members of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers Association, large land owners and settlers who are struggling to establish themselves in the Valley, sat in the galleries and listened intently to the man on whom they are counting to get their Milk Bill passed. Despite the rules which forbid spectators to applaud, they punctuated Mr. Berry's ninety-minute address with loud hand-clapping.

TRACE HISTORY

Mr. Berry traced at length the history of the Fraser Valley milk industry, the inefficient methods of milk handling that prevailed in the old days, the formation of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers Association, the improvement of these methods, the elimination of former waste, and the inauguration of scientific measures of sanitation. The association, he said, has grown every year in membership and strength, and while it did not control now the ninety per cent of the total milk output as in its early stages, it was larger than ever, with 2,800 members, with 4,184,000 pounds of butterfat passing through its machinery in 1928, and with a total of $30,000,000 handled since its inception.

Never in its history, because of its control of the milk situation had the association abused its rights or penalized the public, he said, and criticism of it came almost entirely from "the middle man," the independent Vancouver milk distributor. He also explained in detail the operations of the association and its equipment.

"What have we done for dairying?"
he asked. "We gave the farmers a sure market. We eliminated waste. We created an opportunity for the beginner where no one else could do it. We are accused of creating our own problem my giving this opportunity to the beginner and looking after him. To this we plead absolutely guilty."

RETURNED MEN

With a moving description of the struggles of returned soldier settlers, Mr. Berry told how the association had taken their milk when they could produce only a can, or even half a can a day, as no independent distributor would do. As a result, almost all the returned men in the Valley were members of the association—500 in all.

He said he had warned the dairymen that the Milk Bill would not give them a big price increase, but if it would create a sense of security and peace, if it would produce justice and make all dairymen realize that they were getting an equal chance, then the measure would be well worth while.

After telling how the association had backed the campaign to free the Valley of bovine tuberculosis, at the expense of losing thousands of valuable cows, Mr. Berry declared that he was prepared to rest his case with the consuming public, with the city health authorities and with the Clement Milk Commission.

"Since the advent of our association," he declared, "Vancouver has had the cheapest milk of any corresponding city in Canada or the United States."

PUBLIC IN CONTROL

So long as the supply of milk in the Valley kept ahead of the demand, he declared, the public would always be the final arbiters of milk prices, for the law of supply and demand would continue to govern all dairying operations. Thus the public was absolutely protected against exorbitant prices, he contended. It had been found, he explained, that most milk was sold when the price was nine quarts for $1. No organization could fix a price which would reduce consumption, as any higher price in the past had done, he said. Ninety per cent of the public was satisfied that it would not be charged too high prices, he declared.

"Under this bill," he said, all we ask is that we be placed in a position where we can see that each farmer gets a similar return for similar milk, that we all share and share alike in carrying the excess milk. There's nothing more or less in it. If there is anything unfair, if there is any infringement of the right of any man in the Valley, we fall. If it is for the benefit of the greatest number, we win. We do not attempt to interfere with the right of any man to sell when and where he likes, or with prices."

Proposals by independent dealers for an agreement with the association could not be entertained in their present form, he said, as they would simply effect a saving to go entirely to the dealers and not to the farmers. He had been authorized by the directors of the association, however, to announce as a definite guarantee from them, that the Milk Bill, if passed, would be dormant for a year pending negotiations between them and the independent dealers, looking to a working agreement. The farmers, he said, would wait patiently for the conclusion of these negotiations and in the end it would be for the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to say when the bill should go into force, if this proved necessary.
The bill, he stated, is essential as a preliminary to any agreement with the independents and absolutely necessary to keep the farmers in line, pending some final settlement of the milk problem.

Manson Defends Police Policy

Politics Had No Part in Force
Under His Regime, He Says

Pooley $150,000 Short in Game Board Estimates, He Claims

Politics had no place in the provincial police when he was Attorney-General, A. M. Manson, K.C., declared yesterday when provincial police votes were under consideration during the passing of the estimates of the Attorney-General's Department.

Mr. Manson noted the present Attorney-General had announced that the force would be divorced from politics and the affairs would be left in the hands of the superintendent. That was the policy he, Mr. Manson, followed. He never questioned the political opinion of the men employed and would hazard a guess that of the ten men on the headquarters staff of the provincial police and Game Board all but two were Conservatives. He also claimed that the force when he left office was fifty per cent better than when he took office.

H. F. Kergin, in answer to a question, was informed "the average daily attendance" at Oakalla was 271. It had not been the custom to report how many of the prisoners were there as the result of drugs, but it could be secured.

Mr. Manson questioned the vote for game conservation, claiming that Mr.
Pooley's estimate would be found

$150,000 short under the new plan being introduced.

Mr. Manson and Colonel Peck entered into an argument on the removal of Constable Bishop from Sidney. Mr. Manson stated that following complaints of his political activities he was transferred. Subsequently he resigned. Colonel Peck declared trouble arose because "the pinched a Liberal official." Colonel Peck reviewed in detail the history of the case and denied Bishop was active politically.

"He seems to have been very intimate with you," commented Mr. Pat-tullo. He invited the colonel to make him acquainted with all the men in the Islands district whose discharge the colonel had recommended so that he could get their side of the story.

Only $500 more was allowed in estimates for coroners in spite of a bill increasing their fees. Mr. Pooley said it would be sufficient as the bill also gave authority to tax accounts. It had been found some coroners were not playing fair with the Government in presenting accounts and some had been guilty of padding.

BARBERS' BILL MAKES DEBUT

The bill to incorporate the hairdressers of British Columbia, for which Thos. Uphill, Labor member for Fernie, has been righting since the session opened, was at last reported on last night by the select committee of the Legislature, to whom it was referred and was placed on the order paper for second reading at the next session of the House. The committee reported they found nothing in the bill objectionable and the necessary alterations and amendments had been made.

Earlier in the week when Mr. Uphill was complaining of the delay on the bill, he declared he had been double-crossed and would tramp the country from one end to the other proclaiming that the Government of British Columbia did not keep its promises.

The member for Fernie and H. D.
Twigg left the House to go over it together.

Mr. Uphill voiced his approval in characteristic style at the announcement that the bill had at last traveled the stormy strait of preliminaries to the open sea of the Legislature.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF SCIENCE

IT BEGAN with the dawn of human history. Its founders were those who first taught men to plan their journeys by the stars, and to strike fire from flint. Up through the ages, from Aristotle, Newton, Lavoisier, to the modern chemist, all seekers after useful knowledge are members of this Brotherhood.

But how different are the methods! For centuries its members, even the greatest of them, worked alone, with tools such as only they themselves could make.

Today they command the services of trained assistants and of unlimited and costly apparatus.

In the great laboratories of Canadian Industries Limited, the accumulated knowledge of these distinguished men of the past is utilized by skillful scientists working with the finest equipment. Many of the results have already made modern life more pleasant and comfortable.

The spirit of the Brotherhood is still alive!

Will Return in October

Empress of Canada to Take Two Atlantic Trips and Then Come to Victoria

The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada will return to the Pacific Coast towards the middle of October of this year to enter service again from Vancouver and Victoria to ports in the Orient. It was learned here today upon receipt of schedules by L. D. Chetham, local agent. The schedules were for the Atlantic sailings and include two trips which the Canada will make on that ocean before returning to the Pacific.

On her first trip after being re-engined the Canada will sail from Southampton on August 28, arriving at Quebec on September 4. She will sail again for Europe from the Canadian port on September 6, arriving at Southampton on September 13. Leaving Europe again she will sail from Southampton on September 18 and sail direct to New York at which port she will arrive on September 23.

From New York, although not yet definitely announced, the Empress of Canada will probably make the return to Victoria and Vancouver by way of the West Indies, the Panama Canal and California ports. This trip will take a little more than two weeks and will be the second time that the Canada has passed through the Panama Canal. Several years ago when she took a world cruise she arrived at Southampton on en route to New York from Victoria and Vancouver.

Shortly after her arrival here, the Canada will take her place in the trans-Pacific service of the C.P.R., replacing the Empress of France which will then return to regular service on the Atlantic. The Empress of France is now taking the Canada's place on the Pacific and will be here until the Canada returns.

The Empress of Canada was last here on November 1, on which date she left for Scotland by way of the Orient, India and the Suez Canal. She is now having new engines installed so that she will be a sister ship to the Empress of Japan, now building on the Clyde for the trans-Pacific service. The Canada will be in service out of Victoria early in 1930.

RAIL ACTIVITY NEAR CHURCHILL

Message Indicates Steel Is Now Within Twelve Miles of Hudson Bay

Winnipeg, March 14.—Before the break-up of winter, about May 1, the Canadian National Railway will have shipped 300 carloads of provisions, coal, cement and other building materials to Port Churchill. According to H. A. Dixon, region chief engineer, yesterday, twenty carloads of cement and north the first big shipment bound for Churchill, and other traffic will follow until the 300 cars have been emptied at the bay.

They will be marshalled at the Pas and sent from there. The materials will be for use chiefly in the construction of railway buildings at the port, such as roundhouse, man house, water tank. The first message received over the telegraph line, now completed to Hudson Bay, yesterday, indicated that steel was within twelve miles of Churchill. The line should be completed at the end of the month or early in April. Bad storms have been hampering the progress and the constructors have tried to make up for them by working on the good days.

ALASKA FISHERMAN DROWNED

Seattle, March 14.—A fisherman from the United States halibut boat Tordenskjold, Peter Frankson, twenty-two, was drowned, and his companion, man named Skerpen, was in the water an hour and a half when their boat capsized off Cape Adolphus, Alaska, while fishing. It was reported here yesterday.

Frankson came from Norway three months ago and joined the U.S. fishing fleet this spring.

Effective October 1, 1928, the steamer will leave for Port Alice and way ports on the 1st, 11th and 21st of the month.

Pacific Reliance Due Here Saturday From Europe Ports

With passengers and cargo for Victoria and Vancouver, the Furness Reliance, motor liner, Pacific Reliance, sailed from San Francisco yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock for this port, a wireless message from the South received here this morning, announced to King Bros. local agents. With good weather up the coast the liner should be able to make the trip in about sixty hours, which should bring her to the William Head quarantine station early Saturday morning.

The Reliance is from ports in the United Kingdom by way of the Panama Canal, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The liner Pacific Grove, which arrived here from the United Kingdom two weeks ago is at present loading cargo for the return trip to Puget Sound ports. She will shift to-day to Portland and before sailing through the Panama Canal for England will take on passengers and load cargo at San Francisco and Los Angeles. The liner will sail from the latter port on March 30.

Damage Is Extensive

Now Thought That It Will Cost $50,000 to Repair Freighter Rochelle

Vancouver, March 14.—Examination of the freighter Rochelle on the drydock at Burrard Drydock plant disclosed the fact that she suffered more extensive damage than at first supposed, and the cost of repairs is now estimated at $50,000.

The ship grounded Saturday on Mary Island, near Cape Mudge, while proceeding full speed. When she was refloated it was found she was waterlogged. It was found she was waterlogged. It was found she was waterlogged. It was found she was waterlogged.

The survey yesterday disclosed that the ship's bottom was set up from her stern to the after hold. Several punctures were made and the double bottom interior frames and floor were started. The tank tops are intact and sound.

It is expected that tenders for repairs will be called at once by the Kingsley Navigation Company, owners of the vessel.

WILLBACCO AND TEXADA EXPECTED

To pick up 1,500,000 feet of lumber at this port for Boston and New York, the freighter Willbacco is expected here some time Saturday. King Bros. local shipping agents, announced this morning. Whether she will load at the Rithet piers or the Ogden Point docks has not been decided this morning.

With cargo for discharge at this port, the Kingsley Navigation Company's coastal freighter, Texada, sailed from San Francisco last night and should arrive here some time Sunday. King Bros. said this morning.

They had received no word as to how much cargo was to be left here. After unloading at this port the Texada will proceed to James Island, Vancouver and other British Columbia ports.

Fish Treaty Up For Approval

Canada-U.S. Pact For B.C. Salmon Expected to Be Ratified By U.S.

News of interest to British Columbians has come from Washington, indicating the Canadian-United States Sockeye Salmon Treaty may be ratified by the Senate at Washington during the special session of Congress called by President Hoover to begin April 15.

The latest developments were reported last night in a Washington dispatch which said: "The treaty to authorize Canada and the United States to regulate the catch of sockeye salmon on the Pacific Coast was brought to the notice of President Hoover and Secretary of State Kellogg again today by Senator Wesley Jones of Seattle. Senator Jones hopes to get the treaty signed before Kellogg leaves office. He also hopes to get the treaty on the calendar for the special session of the Senate beginning April 15 next."

"Little opposition is expected in the Senate to the treaty, which was drafted a year ago."

"The treaty will give great powers to the Department of Fisheries in both countries to regulate the catch, prescribe closed seasons and methods of fishing and restock depleted banks from Government hatcheries."

BETTER SIGNALS ON ROADS URGED

Coroner's Jury in Vancouver Makes Recommendation For Railway Crossings

Vancouver, March 14.—Recommendation that more plainly visible signals be placed at points where streets cross railway lines was made yesterday by a jury presided over by Coroner W. D. Brydson, which inquired into the death of Mrs. J. T. O'Rourke, forty-six, Sunday at Sixth Avenue and Pine Street when an interurban electric car hit an auto.

In a rider to its verdict of accidental death the jury expressed the opinion that interurban crossings were not properly protected by signs. Alfred Rogers, B.C.E.R. motorman, was exonerated of blame.

WILL BE BACK IN SERVICE MONDAY

SS. PRINCESS ADELAIDE which will take the night run from Victoria to Vancouver on Monday and be in that service until further notice. The Adelaide has been laid up since December when she was seriously damaged in collision with a freighter in a dense fog just out of Vancouver. She has been at the Esquimalt plant of Yarrows Limited, since that time and during her lay-over she has had hot and cold running water installed in all the rooms, as well as having other interior alterations carried out. She will take the place of the Alice which will lay over for several weeks before entering the Alaska service.

WILL ENLARGE JASPER PARK

C.N.R. Plan Eight New Buildings to Care For Increased Travel to Rocky Mountains

Montreal, Que., March 14.—So great has been the demand for accommodation at Jasper Park Lodge the Canadian National Railway Summer hotel on the Canadian Rocky Mountains that increased accommodation has been found necessary in order to care for the number of guests desiring to visit Jasper National Park during 1929. It was stated today by A. S. McLean, general superintendent of Canadian National hotels.

To provide for the demand for further accommodation eight new buildings are now in course of erection the contract for these having been awarded to H. G. McDonald & Company, of Edmonton, who now have a gang of men at work. Last year a separate house-keeping cabin for the use of parties desiring to visit Jasper National Park accompanied by their families and taking with them their own staff of servants was erected and this was found so popular that another housekeeping cabin similar to the first is being erected.

In addition there will this year be four new four-room cabins each having private bath with two sitting rooms in each cabin. There are also being erected a seasonal tariff during June, July, August and September on fruit and vegetables and certain other commodities.

LADNER SPEAKS
Leon J. Ladner, Conservative, South Vancouver, said the question of the tariff was one of life and death to British Columbia. He pointed to the United States markets which would be cut off if the tariff were raised against them. He thought the Federal Government should obtain from Parliament authority to make immediate tariff changes in order to meet expected United States fiscal changes.

Mr. Ladner expressed himself as favorable towards a state health insurance system for Canada and Government assistance for developing aeroplane services.

TARIFF AND FARMERS
C. E. Bothwell, Liberal, Swift Current, Sask., expressed the view for increase in Canada's tariff would not prove beneficial to the agricultural industry.

HARBER SPEAKS
H. J. Barber, Conservative, Fraser Valley, telling the House of difficulties the egg industry in his district, said that in January, eggs sold at 22 to 25 cents a dozen and such prices were forcing many producers out of business. Grain was cheaper in China and Japan than it was in the Fraser Valley. The reason for this was that the export rate on grain to the British Columbia coast was 21 cents, whereas if the grain was for home consumption it was 43 cents. An effort had been made to put British Columbia eggs on the market of Great Britain, but so far the result had been financially unsuccessful. Two cars of eggs had been shipped to the Eastern Canadian markets, he said, and this trade would be satisfactory if United States case-eggs and Chinese eggs were kept from flooding the market. He believed this industry should be given more protection.

CHANGE OF ATTITUDE
Mr. Veniot said the recent speech of the member for Wellington South (Hon. Hugh Guthrie) as Conservative financial critic, had been full of inconsistent utterances. Before 1917 Mr. Guthrie had urged lowering of the tariff on farm implements, and the Postmaster-General read from Mr. Guthrie's speeches to support this as consistent utterances. ## WRECK OF PORTES GIL'S TRAIN

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th meridian west. It is counted from 6 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for high water are distinguished by water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide is high or low, continuing during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

The two views above show what dynamite placed on the tracks did to the Mexican presidential special train in which Provisional President Emilio Portes Gil was riding near Mexico City. The president's private car, farther back in the train, was not damaged and Portes Gil was uninjured.

EMMA ALEXANDER TO DOCK AT 10

From San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco the Pacific Steamship Company's coastal liner Emma Alexander will dock at the Rithet piers here at 10 o'clock to-night, according to a wireless message received early this afternoon by W. M. Allan, local agent, from Capt. Fred Nystrom, master of the liner. For this port the Emma has eighty-five passengers and eighty tons of general cargo. It is expected that she will be away to Seattle at midnight.

Tariff Topic Of Legislators

Five Members State Views in Budget Debate in House of Commons

Ottawa, March 14.—Five members, including one Cabinet member, Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General, shared in the budget debate in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon and last night.

L. Lacombe, Liberal, Laval-20 Mountains, Quebec, advocated imposition of a seasonal tariff during June, July, August and September on fruit and vegetables and certain other commodities.

Importer To Load 1,500,000 Feet; Seigneur Is Due

To load 1,500,000 feet of Vancouver Island timber for Halifax and other Atlantic Coast ports, the Canadian National freighter, Canadian Importer, is expected at the Ogden Point piers here to-morrow night from Vancouver, according to information received at the local freight office this morning.

She will commence loading on Saturday morning and will be here about three days before sailing direct to the east coast.

The freighter Canadian Seigneur, of the same line, from Halifax and other eastern Canadian ports, is expected over the week-end with 100 tons of general cargo for local discharge. The exact time that she will dock at Ogden Point is not yet known, but the skipper of the craft will wireless the local per of the craft will wireless the local office on Saturday stating the time that he will bring his ship alongside the docks here.

An excellent way to facilitate neatness in the dresser drawers is to fit a few separate boxes in, for handkerchiefs, gloves, underwear, socks, and tuck them all down to the drawer with thumb tacks.

Returns From West Indies

C.N.R. Vice-President Sees Trade Possibilities Between Canada and Indies Ports

Montreal, March 14.—Unquestionably there are numerous opportunities for the development of trade between the British West Indies and Canada, but it will be necessary to effect considerable organization both on the islands and in Canada to achieve the full measure of the possibilities, said D. E. Galloway, vice-president of the Canadian National steamships, who has returned to Montreal after a voyage from Halifax to Bermuda, the British West Indies and Demerara, about the R.M.S. Lady Hawkins, one of the new fleet of vessels placed in operation to provide mail, passenger and freight service in accordance with the provisions of the trade agreement.

"I noticed at some points," said Mr. Galloway, "that lumber of non-British origin was being used, and I think that this could be well replaced by Canadian lumber. However, I found sentiment in the islands very favorably inclined to Canadian products of every character, with perhaps the exception of boots and shoes, though of English manufacture possessing attraction of suitable price."

Mr. Galloway spoke in high terms of the quality of the fruits and vegetables offered during the voyage, and expressed the opinion that they would prove very attractive to Canadian consumers during the seasons when such produce is available.

The vice-president spoke most enthusiastically of the Lady Hawkins and the ports of call entered on the route. "Each island has a charm of its own," he said, "and the arrival at new places adds delightful interest to each day."

Mr. Galloway said that the Lady Hawkins returned to St. John with a full list of passengers and full cargo loaded to the hatches, as he expressed it. A large part of the return cargo was made up of sugar and molasses. There were many expressions from people of the islands appreciative of the handsome manner in which the Government of Canada had carried out the provisions of the trade agreement by building such fine ships, and there is every reason to believe that the trade will expand.

Neat Dressers
An excellent way to facilitate neatness in the dresser drawers is to fit a few separate boxes in, for handkerchiefs, gloves, underwear, socks, and tuck them all down to the drawer with thumb tacks.

Empress Of Russia And President Ship Now En Route Here

Two deep sea passenger liners are now en route to Victoria from China, Japan and the Philippine Islands, both having left Yokohama this morning, according to advance schedule in the hands of the local agents.

These liners are the Canadian Pacific vessel Empress of Russia, due here on Saturday, March 23, and the American Mail liner President Jackson, due here on Monday morning, March 25. The C.P.R. liner will make the crossing from the Japanese city in nine days, while the American Mail liner will be on the ocean eleven days.

The local agents, W. M. Allan, for the American Mail Line and L. D. Chetham for the C.P.R., will receive information early next week regarding the passengers and cargo aboard the liners for this port.

After discharging here the Empress of Russia will leave for Vancouver, while the President Jackson will go to Seattle.

Iyo Maru Expected Here On March 23; Mishima Outbound

The N.Y.K. liner Iyo Maru, which left Yokohama on Saturday, March 9, is bringing forty-five tons of general cargo for this port and six third class passengers. She is due here on Saturday, March 23. For Seattle the liner has a heavy general cargo, including a valuable parcel of new silk and six first class passengers and thirteen third.

The Mishima Maru on her first trip out of Seattle and Victoria to the Orient, will sail from the pier here on the afternoon of the same day.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, March 14.—John F. Chisholm, vice-president and traffic manager of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, returned from his local office yesterday after a business trip to the Northwest. Chisholm met Robert C. Thacker, chairman of the United States Inter-oceanic Conference, while at Seattle, and he reported yesterday that Thacker will arrive here early this morning. The conference chairman is on his second visit to the Pacific Coast since he accepted the chairmanship.

With Capt. Andrew Townsend, the Matson liner Matsonia sailed for Honolulu yesterday with a heavy load of mail, and Morgan will pilot the steamer to Honolulu, where Capt. Konrad Hubbenette, commandant of the Matson, will take over the bridge.

Empress Of Russia And President Ship Now En Route Here

Two deep sea passenger liners are now en route to Victoria from China, Japan and the Philippine Islands, both having left Yokohama this morning, according to advance schedule in the hands of the local agents.

These liners are the Canadian Pacific vessel Empress of Russia, due here on Saturday, March 23, and the American Mail liner President Jackson, due here on Monday morning, March 25. The C.P.R. liner will make the crossing from the Japanese city in nine days, while the American Mail liner will be on the ocean eleven days.

The local agents, W. M. Allan, for the American Mail Line and L. D. Chetham for the C.P.R., will receive information early next week regarding the passengers and cargo aboard the liners for this port.

After discharging here the Empress of Russia will leave for Vancouver, while the President Jackson will go to Seattle.

Iyo Maru Expected Here On March 23; Mishima Outbound

The N.Y.K. liner Iyo Maru, which left Yokohama on Saturday, March 9, is bringing forty-five tons of general cargo for this port and six third class passengers. She is due here on Saturday, March 23. For Seattle the liner has a heavy general cargo, including a valuable parcel of new silk and six first class passengers and thirteen third.

The Mishima Maru on her first trip out of Seattle and Victoria to the Orient, will sail from the pier here on the afternoon of the same day.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, March 14.—John F. Chisholm, vice-president and traffic manager of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, returned from his local office yesterday after a business trip to the Northwest. Chisholm met Robert C. Thacker, chairman of the United States Inter-oceanic Conference, while at Seattle, and he reported yesterday that Thacker will arrive here early this morning. The conference chairman is on his second visit to the Pacific Coast since he accepted the chairmanship.

Corns

Lift Right Off!

Hard corns, soft corns, corns between the toes and callouses lift right off. You'll laugh—it is so easy and doesn't hurt a bit!

Just drop "Freezone" on any tender, lousy corn. Instantly it stops aching; then, shortly you just lift that old bothersome corn right off with your fingers. It works like a charm, every time. Seems magic.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs only a few cents at any drug store. Try it!

Dated at the City of Victoria, B.C., this 13th day of March, 1929.

B. C. COPPER MINING TOLD

General Manager of Britannia Company Addresses Prospectors Here

Canada has every chance of realizing handsomely from her copper resources during the next few years, according to C. P. Browning, general manager of the Britannia Mining and Smelting Company, who last night addressed the Vancouver Island Prospectors' Association.

Mr. Browning took as his subject "Romance and Adventure of Mining," sketching the various stages through which the industry had passed since the earliest forms of prospecting.

Canada was in an enviable position with regard to copper production, the speaker said, dealing at some length with this mineral.

"The character of Canada's copper deposits places her on a par with Chile and Africa," he remarked. Whereas the United States was now producing 65 per cent of the world's copper, she would be producing only about 40 per cent in 1937, according to estimates.

In that year, it was estimated, Canada would be second only to the United States in production.

B. C. COPPER PROVINCE

"British Columbia is the copper province of Canada," Mr. Browning noted in rehearsing the copper situation in the Dominion. He mentioned among the new developments in this Province the Quatsino properties, although he claimed no first-hand knowledge of this. The discovery of important copper deposits in the Rouyn area of Western Quebec, at the Frood and Frood extension, and at the Erington zinc-copper mine in the Sudbury district, the development at the Flin Flon and Sherritt-Gordon mines in Northern Manitoba, additions to plant equipment at Anyox, Britannia Beach and Copper Mountain, and at the Coast Copper property as new factors likely to make a substantial increase to the Canadian production of copper.

HUMAN SIDE

Answering questions relative to the Britannia Mine, Mr. Browning spoke of the human side of the industry, mentioning schemes for the entertainment, happiness and social and economic welfare of the employees.

Although Britannia Beach was a company town, the one store was operated on a co-operative plan, and the employees shared in the profits. Group insurance, hospitals and recreations were outlined.

Almost any vegetable, such as beans, cauliflower, diced turnips or the like, make a delectable luncheon dish if served hot on toast covered with a tasty cheese sauce.

Why not color up the "bathroom" this Spring? Any flowered paper can be shellacked so that it is waterproof. With woodwork the color of the paper's background, the family won't know the old bathroom in its new dress.

THE GUMPS—TILDA, BEWARE.

FIRST PHOTOS OF LINDY'S AND ANNE'S RETREAT IN WAR-TORN MEXICO

Here are the first pictures to reach Victoria of the rural estate of United States Ambassador Dwight Morrow in Cuernavaca, where the ambassador, his daughter, Anne, and her fiancé, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, were when the Mexican revolt broke out. Above, at the left, is a view of the front of the building; at the right, above, is a scene in one of the gardens within. Below at the right are two quaint old Mexican chairs on the veranda where the young flier courted Anne Morrow.

Wash rag rugs before they are badly soiled. Shake first, then either douse up and down in warm suds, or, if small, lay flat on the floor or a table and scrub with a brush. Turn the hose on them for rinsing and never wring.

Fluffy Potatoes

Heat almost to the boiling point the milk that is to be added to mashed potatoes and fluffiness will result. Every lump should be mashed out with a fork before the milk is added, however.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will meet to-morrow at 12.15 p.m. in the Chamber cafe.

Robert Rowan, appearing on a liquor charge, was remanded until March 21, when his counsel, Stuart Henderson, was not present in City Police Court this morning. Mr. Henderson was in Assize Court, it was explained.

The monthly meeting of the Prayer Union for the Salvation of Israel will be held to-morrow evening in the Y.W.C.A. at 8 o'clock. George B. Michell, O.B.E., late Consul-General to Milan, will be the speaker.

Army and Navy Veterans have arranged a special concert at the club's rooms on Saturday next at 8 p.m. to commemorate St. Patrick, but owing to accommodation being limited the concert will be for members only.

A preparatory service will be held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church this evening at 8 o'clock in view of the coming communion on Sunday morning. All who intend to join the church are asked to be present at 7.45 o'clock.

The annual session of the Grand Lodge A.O.U.W. meet this morning in the Sons of England Hall, Broad Street. Over thirty delegates from various parts of the Province are in attendance. The session will last two days, closing Friday evening.

The Bible Class of the Y.W.C.A. will be conducted next Sunday at 4.30 p.m. by Mrs. R. S. Day, and the following Sunday by Mrs. Nalder. Rev. T. W. Gladstone is paying a brief visit to his daughter, Mrs. T. Fyles, who hopes to return with him by Easter.

Victoria and Vancouver auto license numbers for 1929 and other useful information to motorists are contained in the Auto Locator and Motorists' Guide just issued through J. C. North, agent, and Diggon's Limited, printers. Copies are on sale at all leading book stores.

Dr. A. F. Barton will deliver a health lecture in the New Thought Temple this evening at 8 o'clock. He will speak on "How to Recharge Your Body Battery." At the close of the lecture Dr. Barton will make important announcements on the future activities of the New Thought Temple.

"B" Company, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, will hold their usual St. Patrick's Day dance at Work Point Barracks on Saturday next at 8.30 p.m. in honor of the birthday of their Colonel-in-Chief, the Lady Patricia Ramsay. All ex-members of the unit, no longer in the service, are invited to attend.

H. Baker, national president of the Amalgamated Civil Servants, and P. McGrath, vice-president for British Columbia, will attend the smoker being staged by the local association in St. David's Hall, 1414 Douglas Street, on Saturday evening. A lengthy programme is being planned for the affair which will be open to all members of the Civil Service free of charge.

A memorial to the late E. Hamilton Smith, formerly of the teaching staff of Victoria High School, was proposed to city School trustees last night in a letter from Walter Myers, of Indianapolis. Mr. Myers suggested the creation of a small scholarship fund, to which he would be glad to contribute—as a former pupil of the late Mr. Smith. The board tabled action on the suggestion.

OBITUARY
Funeral service for Albert McCulloch, who was held yesterday afternoon from the J. Curry & Son Funeral Home. Many friends were present and beautiful floral tributes were received. Rev. Dr. Clem Davies officiated. Mrs. A. Dowell sang "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "No Night There." The following acted as pallbearers: A. S. Harper, J. H. Watson, R. McDowell, D. Sutton, C. R. Watson and V. M. Irwin. Interment was made at Royal Oak Burial Park.

The funeral of William A. Marrior, who passed away in Tacoma will take place in Victoria on Monday. The late Mr. Marrior was a native of Victoria, having been born here forty-one years ago. He lived here for a number of years and received his schooling here. He served overseas during Great War. Besides a widow, he leaves to mourn his loss one daughter, Miss Amy Marrior; his mother, Mrs. A. Marrior, of Victoria; one brother, Thomas J. Marrior, of Victoria; and five sisters, Mrs. James Baker, and Mrs. Archie Cleff, of Victoria; Mrs. T. Eakin, of New Westminster; Mrs. James Clegg, of James Island and Mrs. H. T. Denyshire. The remains arrived in the city this morning and are resting at the B. C. Funeral Parlor from where the funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock where which interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Mrs. Edith Ellen Lang, wife of John Charles Lang of Salt Lake Island, passed away at the Jubilee Hospital yesterday, aged seventy-two years. She was born in Huddersfield, England, and is survived by her husband, five daughters and a son, two of the daughters and the son being in England, and three daughters in Victoria. Funeral services will be held from the B.C. Funeral Chapel on Friday at 2.30 p.m. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

There passed away at the residence of his daughter, at 1022 Southgate Street, on Wednesday evening, Mr. White, aged seventy-nine years. Mr. White was born in Huntingdon, Quebec, and had been a resident of Regina for twenty-three years. He came to Victoria in January of this year. He is mourned by his widow, three daughters and five sons: Mrs. A. E. Matcham, with whom he resided; Mrs. C. W. Lamb of Rainy River, Ont., and Mrs. E. C. White of Long Beach, Cal.; John of Unity, Sask.; Russell, of Vancouver, B.C.; and William, Scott and Donald, of Regina. The remains are at McCall Bros' Funeral Home. Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

The death occurred last evening at St. Joseph's Hospital of James Chalmers, of 1311 Pembroke Street, a native of Scotland, and a resident of this city for the last sixteen years. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Alice Chalmers, one son, Edward, and two daughters, Robert, in Vancouver, and Thomas, on Denman Island; also one sister, Mrs. Mary Wood, in Scotland. Mr. Chalmers was a valued member of Columbia Lodge No. 2, I.O.O.F. Funeral services will be conducted on Saturday at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel, and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

VICTIM OF AUTO CRASH POPULAR AS AN ATHLETE

eighteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kettle, 427 Hillside Avenue, who died following an automobile accident on Richmond Road last Sunday night. A joint funeral for Wilbert and John Turton, who was also killed, was held this afternoon from the Salvation Army Citadel. Young Kettle, a native son of Cumberland, had been very active in sport circles in the city for several years and was a great favorite with all whom he came in contact.

As a footballer he was outstanding and at different times played with the Tillamook, Saanich Rovers and Five C's teams, appearing with the latter eleven in Vancouver. He was also a member of the all-star, junior team which played against the Navy here not long ago. He worked on The Times circulation staff as a carrier for four years and was lately employed by T. L. Boyden, patent attorney, with whom he showed remarkable progress. Considerable regret is felt by his friends at his untimely passing.

Unable to agree upon a verdict, the jury trying James Davis on a charge of manslaughter in the Assize Court was yesterday afternoon discharged by Mr. Justice Morrison. The proceedings lasted two days.

"This is just the kind of case in which one would expect a disagreement," commented His Lordship, when assured by the foreman of the jury that further consideration would not attain agreement. The jury had been out for two and a half hours, and had returned at the conclusion of the second hour for deliberation.

Mr. Justice Morrison, this morning announced that a second jury will be impanelled and the accused face trial next Monday morning.

The jury was: William Angus, foreman; Herbert Stocks, Edmund E. G. Cockell, James Rutherford, Frank Dovey, Bertram A. Griffin, William Neal, William Aldred, Nathaniel Nicholson, Thomas E. Ainscough, Walter E. Quale and Richard Darley.

MUST USE CARE
Addressing the jury yesterday afternoon, His Lordship said: "The law simply put, is that one driving a motor car must use care to preserve the passenger."

He pointed out that the jurors were sole judges of the facts, and stressed the law that, until the jury had decided as to the facts, all statements were only submissions by counsel.

"It is the right of any doubt. If you waver in any way, in your minds, then you must consider the Crown has not made out its case. This is a valuable provision in our law," said His Lordship.

"Persons are expected to anticipate and guard against ordinary perils, but not against extraordinary circumstances. It is for you to say if the conduct of the accused was culpable. You must be fully convinced that evidence you accept and believe is not capable of some other explanation."

"This man did what hundreds of people do every day. He hired a car, he was considerate of the health of this elderly man. Until the time the accident occurred, it is your duty to consider if the prisoner was doing anything he should not have done."

QUESTION OF COLLISION
"The circumstances are such as you do not find on the ordinary highway. Why should he have kept right on, at the speed of twenty miles an hour? If you believe he went off the road to avoid a collision with another car, it will be your duty to bring in a verdict of not guilty. It is a point in favor of the accused that no signs give warning of danger. It is for you jurors to say if anything that happened would not have happened at a speed of twenty miles an hour."

His Lordship doubted if the car could have stopped in fifteen feet after striking the pole, a glancing blow if travelling at fifty miles.

Among the visiting Rotarians at the local club's luncheon at the Empress Hotel to-day were: W. P. Rathbone, Vancouver; L. E. Borden, M.P.P., Nelson; Hugh Thomson, Moose Jaw;

George M. Riech, Kenora; W. F. Kennedy, M.P.P., Vernon; J. Schofield, M.P.P., Trail; E. Rounds, Seattle; Jack Muir, Vancouver; Zeb. Eady, Vancouver; George S. Pearson, M.P.P., Nanaimo; Ben McPhillips, Port Angeles; I. L. Mathews, Port Arthur; Arthur Lothgren, Vancouver and Loomis Shaw, San Francisco.

CANNIBALISM LEADS TO TRIAL
Ottawa, March 14—A case of cannibalism among the Eskimos in the winter of 1926-27 is reported by Sergeant M. A. Joyce of Ottawa in the annual report of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. He says two natives arrived at a Hudson's Bay Company post on December 22, 1927, bringing with them a woman named Isiak.

"This woman," said the postmaster in his letter, "is the unfortunate individual who, during a time of starvation the latter part of last winter managed to live through it by eating the flesh of other natives who had died of starvation."

The report states that in time the woman will be tried for the crime, but the remoteness of the region offers obstacles.

GRAB-BAG BUYING

Remember your kid days . . . When you went to a bazaar or fair of any kind there was always a grab-bag—one of those mystical things you reached into and drew out a whistle, a lollypop, a doll or a toy of some kind. You never knew what you were going to get—but that was half the fun. You didn't care!

But now when you buy anything, you want to be sure of what you get. You can't take chances on grab-bag methods. You must know that your purchase will fit your need. But, do you?

There is one way you can be reasonably sure of everything you buy. Buy advertised products. Look through the advertisements in this paper. They will give you the information necessary to intelligent buying. They will tell you what is new and best and why it will suit you.

Advertisements are a form of introduction from the manufacturer or merchant to you. It is to your interest to read them.

Advertisements tell you what you want to know about the goods you buy

Healed His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of recovery was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely healed me. Years passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete recovery without operation if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 1203 Marcellus Avenue, Manhattan, N.Y. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of the rupture and the worry and danger of an operation. (Adv.)

Ten Days For Holidays At Easter Time

School Board Arranges Leave For Students; Charity Boxes
Draw Comment

Horticulturists Praised For City Beautiful Stand; High School Fees Discussed

Upwards of 6,000 students in city schools benefit from ten days' holiday, to start on Good Friday, it was stated at a meeting of the school trustees last night. The period of March 29 to April 7 marks the Easter holidays, and is already being eagerly anticipated by the students.

At a routine session the trustees avoided conflict that threatened over the issue of High School fees to Victoria students over the legal age, and received and filed for further study a report of the finance committee which showed that out of $492 now payable in fees from Victoria parents, only $153 had been received.

Trustee W. Moresby, K.C., indicated that he would insist later that if fees were to be charged they should be made payable, and really collected. The board had not been unanimous on the question of charging fees of any nature in the first place, and threatened to oppose any new stringency that might be suggested.

TABLE ACTION ON FEES

With strength visible in both camps, the trustees avoided the battle, and tabled the question of fees until a later date.

An application by the Victoria Horticultural Society for permission to beautify 18,000 square feet, on the Yates Street frontage of the Boys' and Girls' Central Schools, was received with interest, and the delegation, headed by P. R. Leighton, thanked for their activity in the cause of the improvement of school grounds.

An eight-foot wooden trellis, wired in, would be covered with climbing roses, with island flowers and shrubs to be planted on the street side of the trellis, it was proposed. The horticulturists asked aid in the form of a grant to help initiate the work, but the board's answer on this phase of the question was tabled.

The wisdom of the practice of permitting collection boxes to be placed in the city schools for charitable purposes was raised. An investigation was ordered into a statement that students had been solicited to contribute to various causes.

Many causes were worthy, but collections for all of them could not be authorized, the board decided. Meanwhile the collection boxes of another charitable cause will be placed in the schools, but students will not be solicited to contribute, it was stated.

HIGH COST OF WATER

Trustee Beckwith, chairman of the finance committee, complained of the charge made by the city for water used at the schools. The current bill rendered was higher than the cost of wood fuel used in the same period, it was shown. The city should at least quote a wholesale price for the water required, said Mr. Beckwith.

The finance committee recommended the purchase of two gas stoves, and twenty-four electric plates. The building and grounds committee urged the purchase of a gasoline lawn mower for the High School. The grass has now become so luxuriant that it could not be economically cut by hand, it was indicated. Funds were provided in estimates, and the power mower would save time and money, it was stated.

The board ratified a superannuation agreement plan, whereby the outside and janitorial staff of the schools will be placed under the Provincial Superannuation Act schedules on April 1.

Mr. Moresby, chairman of the building and grounds committee, reported on incidental alterations and repairs required in the schools.

The board will acknowledge the receipt of $25 from the Margaret Jenkins Parent-Teacher Association, in aid of new school blinds.

The question of purchase of 400 locks for High School lockers, and a hand saw for the machine shop, was tabled for further report.

Pad Estimated Liquor Profits

And Still Cheat Municipalities of $40,000, Says Pattullo

The method of presenting the estimates again drew fire from T. D. Pattullo, leader of the Opposition. A. M. Manson and Dr. W. H. Sutherland last night when the Attorney-General's estimates were under review.

Mr. Pattullo described them as absolutely hodge podge. He seized on the vote to municipalities and said that, in spite of the new basis which robbed them of several hundreds of thousands of dollars compared with what they received from liquor profits before they were still being cheated out of another $40,000. The revenue estimated from liquor was $4,211,000. On the new basis the municipalities should get $991,000, whereas only $950,000 was provided in the estimates. In any event, he said, the estimate of $4,311,000 liquor profits was over-optimistic and amounted to padding. This proved again, he said, that the deficit in the estimates would be larger than they already knew it to be.

Mr. Manson declared the estimates of liquor profits would be found to be padded to the extent of over a quarter of a million dollars.

Writs Given Police Found To Have Flaw

Doubt of Raid Legality Releases Mrs. Bernick on Bribery Charge

Attorney-General Pooley's personally signed letter to Chief of Police John Fry, purporting to give power to enter premises, break open locks, and search places where unlawful liquor might be kept, proved a broken reed yesterday afternoon, when relied upon by the Crown in the Assize Court prosecution of Pina Bernick for attempted bribery of a police officer.

Mrs. Bernick was given the benefit of doubt which H. A. MacLean, K.C., successfully cast on the strength of a raid made by Chief Fry on the strength of Mr. Pooley's letter of authority. The action was withdrawn from the jury by Mr. Justice Morrison, who remarked that he would give the accused "the benefit of the doubt and tell her not to do it again."

His Lordship expressed the opinion that "this little loophole ought to be stopped up," and earlier suggested that the matter could be remedied by the sitting Legislature by addition of a few words to the Liquor Act.

OFFERED MONEY

Chief John Fry, the only prosecution witness, testified that at 8 o'clock on the evening of Sunday, January 6 last, he had entered the rear of 2213 Government Street, the home of the accused, and had gone to a bedroom on the ground floor. Removing a trap-door in a cupboard, he had knelt down and commenced removal of bottles of beer.

The accused had taken currency from a trunk in the room, spread the bills on her open hand, and extended them to him. "She told me she would give me the money if I would go away and make no trouble," he stated.

"I told her not to be foolish, and she repeated the offer," said the Chief. The woman put the money away and came back, "offering to give me all she had if I'd go away and not make trouble for her." There was no other person present at the time, said the witness. He had not been in uniform.

Cross-examined by Mr. MacLean, Chief Fry said he had learned afterwards that Mrs. Bernick had been ill and had recently lost all her teeth. He did not know the value of the money tendered.

Remarking that a nervous, ill woman would act unwisely to avoid trouble, Mr. MacLean fired his bombshell at the prosecution. "I would submit to your Lordship that this case be taken from the jury," he said, reading the following letter of authority, given Chief Fry by Mr. Pooley:

"Pursuant to powers conferred by Section 73, Subsection 2, of the Government Liquor Act, being Chapter 146 of the Revised Statutes of B.C., 1924, I hereby authorize you to enter and search without warrant any building or premises, and every part thereof, where it is believed that liquor is unlawfully kept or had—kept or had for unlawful purposes and for the purpose to break any door, lock or fastening to the building or premises, or any part thereof, and of any closet, cupboard, box or other receptacle therein which might contain liquor."

NOT PART OF CODE

Mr. MacLean argued that special authority was essential to enter a home or serve processes or warrants at night or on Sundays, except where the statute concerned makes special provision. The Liquor Act was not a part of the Criminal Code, but a separate code, he pointed out.

"HOUSE IS CASTLE"

The letter from the Attorney-General was effective by day on any weekday. "This woman's house" is her castle. John Fry nor anybody else has authority to enter as he did," Mr. MacLean submitted.

Mr. Justice Morrison asked "what difference does all that make?" He was a police officer at the time, although not in uniform. The Criminal Code provides: "Any and everyone is guilty of an indictable offence who corruptly gives or offers any officer any money or valuable consideration, office, place or employment with intent to interfere corruptly with the due administration of justice or to procure or facilitate the commission of any crime."

"It may lay the chief open to some form of action, but how does it affect the act of corrupting or attempting to corrupt an officer?" His Lordship asked. Counsel explained "Money must be offered corruptly to interfere with the due administration of justice. There can be no due administration of justice if he was in her house illegally. He was trespassing unless armed with the proper authority. By the overruling law of the land every search warrant applies by day unless specially permitted."

"OUTRAGEOUS" AND "TERRIBLE"

Crown Prosecutor Johnson objected. "Chief Fry had authority to enter without a warrant," he said. Mr. MacLean retorted: "A most outrageous section, I submit. A terrible provision! They can enter anybody's house. The power should be used with caution. This document from Attorney-General Pooley is useless to enter anybody's premises at night."

Replying to His Lordship, Mr. MacLean was unaware of the point having been raised before, and knew of no other night search under similar authority.

"The Lord's Day Act prohibits the serving of processes and warrants on Sunday without special authority. There was no authority to enter those premises by night on a Sunday," he reiterated.

DAY AFTER DARK
Crown counsel interjected: "The interpretation clauses of the code describe 'night' as being from 9 p.m. until 6 a.m. The entry was made at 8 o'clock at night."

Mr. Justice Morrison asked, "What about Sunday?" and Mr. Johnson was of opinion that the prohibition against service of papers applied solely to civil suits, not criminal cases.

Mr. MacLean objected that the Liquor Act was not a part of the Criminal Code. The Lord's Day Act applies in British Columbia, and warrants can be obtained for criminal cases.

NOVEL SITUATION
Mr. Justice Morrison, addressing the jury, said: "I will not trouble you. This is a novel situation arising from a new condition. There is some doubt as to this lady for bringing this position to light. There is also credit due Chief Fry for taking steps to bring immediate attention to this matter. He did what he ought to have done. Corruption of the constabulary is looked upon as very serious."

"Other acts have provisions made that this may be done on Sundays or at night. This the novel authority of the Attorney-General lacks. A few words can well be put in the act now, while the House is sitting, as a matter of precaution."

IN JAMAICA

IN this prosperous island, with a population of approximately one million, and now linked more closely with Canada through improved steamship service, The Bank of Nova Scotia has been established for over 40 years.

Special tariff preferences are given to a large number of Canadian products and the sentiment of the people is favorable to Canada.

The eleven Branches of the Bank well located at Kingston and the other principal places of the Island (see map) are fully equipped to handle all banking transactions in connection with Jamaican trade.

Canadian manufacturers, exporters and importers interested in Jamaican trade will receive every possible assistance from any of our Canadian branches.

the proper authority. By the overruling law of the land every search warrant applies by day unless specially permitted."

"OUTRAGEOUS" AND "TERRIBLE"
Crown Prosecutor Johnson objected. "Chief Fry had authority to enter without a warrant," he said. Mr. MacLean retorted: "A most outrageous section, I submit. A terrible provision! They can enter anybody's house. The power should be used with caution. This document from Attorney-General Pooley is useless to enter anybody's premises at night."

Replying to His Lordship, Mr. MacLean was unaware of the point having been raised before, and knew of no other night search under similar authority.

"The Lord's Day Act prohibits the serving of processes and warrants on Sunday without special authority. There was no authority to enter those premises by night on a Sunday," he reiterated.

DAY AFTER DARK
Crown counsel interjected: "The interpretation clauses of the code describe 'night' as being from 9 p.m. until 6 a.m. The entry was made at 8 o'clock at night."

Mr. Justice Morrison asked, "What about Sunday?" and Mr. Johnson was of opinion that the prohibition against service of papers applied solely to civil suits, not criminal cases.

Mr. MacLean objected that the Liquor Act was not a part of the Criminal Code. The Lord's Day Act applies in British Columbia, and warrants can be obtained for criminal cases.

NOVEL SITUATION
Mr. Justice Morrison, addressing the jury, said: "I will not trouble you. This is a novel situation arising from a new condition. There is some doubt as to this lady for bringing this position to light. There is also credit due Chief Fry for taking steps to bring immediate attention to this matter. He did what he ought to have done. Corruption of the constabulary is looked upon as very serious."

They Were a Great Benefit to Him

Says Ontario Man of Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mr. M. Hay Suffered With Acute Pains In His Back

Stratford, Ont., March 13 (Special)—About four years ago I suffered with acute pains in my back," writes Mr. M. Hay, 71 Front Street, Stratford, Ont. "Dodd's Kidney Pills were recommended to me by a friend. I bought a box and found great relief. From that day on I have never been without them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills purify the blood, and pure blood carried to all parts of the body means new health and increased energy all over the body. Dodd's Kidney Pills are an excellent tonic, and now is the opportune time to take them. During the long, weary winter months the system becomes weakened and gets in a run-down condition. Dodd's Kidney Pills work with Nature by encouraging and assisting the kidneys to cast out everything impure or diseased.

Dodd's Kidney Pills can be obtained from Druggists everywhere, or The Dods Medicine Co., Ltd., Toronto 2, Ont. (Adv.)

HITNEY LETTER

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.

New York, March 14.—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Service says today:

"Rumors concerning the Boston Federal Reserve Bank plans for increasing the rediscount rate have again proved to be rumors and nothing more. The ability of the Bank of England to secure gold in the London market this week makes it fairly certain that there will be no increase in the Bank of England rate announced today, and I believe this can be taken as a forerunner to the fact that there will be no change in the New York rate when directors meet this evening.

"Each day that the market continues to demonstrate its ability to draw away from the doubtful bottom, which it established in the past week, decreases the possibility of that bottom being violated in any reaction which may develop as a result of some popularly regarded adverse development. This being the case, I know of no reason why we should not maintain the position which has been formerly adhered to, and which is to the effect that the trend of the market is still up, and that throughout a broad list of securities we are going to witness higher prices than have been recorded thus far. There is a possibility of a temporary flurry in the call rate today, but, irrespective of this, I look for another day of advancing prices.

COMMENT

"Alexander Industries Inc. renewed advance is temporarily in abeyance pending the completion of some important negotiations. During this period the stock should be bought in such quantities as will not tempt one to cash in a short quick profit. When space permits, more details will be given. Meanwhile get long of the stock and don't consider a small profit.

"Resumption of the advance in Electric Power and Light and National Power and Light are now clearly under way. Both stocks are headed materially higher, and together with another large utility, will, in the near future, be brought together in one company, but not until these companies are established at much higher levels.

"I believe the advance in anticipation of which you were advised to purchase General Motors below $3 is now under way, and that the company's Truck subsidiary will accompany the advance in the parent stock so that both should be purchased below $3 and 42 respectively.

"I expect the next day or so for the advance in International Mercantile Marine to be resumed, so that if for any reason holders have been disposed of they should be replaced. Recapitalization of the company which was attempted last year will be an accomplished fact in the near future with the preferred stock established at approximately double current prices.

"The railway equipment group is somewhat slow in starting, but such issues as American Locomotive, American Car and Foundry, Westinghouse Air Brake and Colorado Fuel and Iron, which may be included in the general group, are worth buying now and at the prices at which they stand."

N.Y. Market Gossip

(By R. P. Clark Leased Wire)

New York, March 14.—It is considered likely that soon after March 15 call money rates may advance again. Despite the evidence of pressure, signs that real liquidation is in progress in volume are lacking, and it is quite apparent, we think, that there is an increasing disposition to stand aside and allow the market to work itself out. This, however, does not mean that the rank and file of holders of common stocks are in any mood to sell. On the other hand, they are prepared to hold the sound issues through the present state of irregularity and uncertainty.

Perhaps one definite development has occurred during the past few days and that is a substantial increase in the short interest. The rumor of an increase in the New York bank rate this week has persisted ever since the second half of last week, and even should the rate be raised the surprise element in such an announcement would be entirely lacking. We are beginning to doubt whether an increase in the rate would give the market the "shock" that seems to be expected in some quarters.

It is likely, we think, that average fluctuations in the active stocks, particularly those whose ownership is diversified and not highly concentrated, are likely to be narrow for the present. It is worth bearing in mind that the technical condition of the market is approaching a stage where a seasonal covering movement might be anticipated.

The bank situation did not eventuate in the banking situation did not eventuate.

Bond Market

Prices Steadier

New York, March 14.—The treasury 4 1/2's and Liberty fourth 4 1/2's were firm at yesterday's closing level, but Liberty 3 1/2's continued to give ground.

Prices in the general bond market were steadier and a handful of utilities and industrials improved on reports of good earnings and increased business.

Money continued firm with 8 per cent bid for thirty days and 7 1/2 per cent for longer maturities.

Municipal bond dealers have taken advantage of the lull in financing by cities, counties and states to clean up old issues which have been dragging for some weeks and are rapidly disposing of the new issues coming to hand.

Gains in the utilities were registered by International Telephone convertible 4 1/2's and Public Service Electric and Gas 4 1/2's but North American Edison 5 1/2's "A" were under pressure.

General Motors Acceptances 6s improved on reports of increased auto sales, and Goodrich Tire and Rubber 5 1/2's advanced a fractional gain. Allis-Chalmers 5s failed to respond to reports of the company's inclusion in a large farm implement merger and sold at bid year's low level. St. Paul adjustment 5s of the rails were firm at 77.

In the foreign list Chile issues again were in supply and fractionally lower.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)
Winnipeg, March 14.—Wheat: Unfavorable crop report from winter wheat states again the chief influence in Winnipeg and Chicago markets to-day, bringing about further speculative buying and curtailing offerings. Winnipeg May opened 1/2 lower, based on the cable, which again came weaker than due, but the market gradually firmed, and reached one cent over the close last night.

Trade volume was only light, with the market acting very nervous but extreme bulges appeared difficult to hold as long as were inclined to take moderate profits. On the dips offerings dried up, and buying was difficult and prices were easily forced upward. Wheat in character and European being supported by one or two large shipping houses that have been buying for the past few days, while the great majority of the pit trade are bullish, and commission houses are also mostly on the buying side.

The pool were credited with selling a small amount of wheat at one period to-day. In the late trade the market became more active, and prices were forced upward. There was a little better tone to the cash market with millers and shippers taking No. 3 Northern and lower grades, but there was very little tendency to advance prices. Holders are firm in their views, consequently offerings continue light.

Millers report that domestic flour trade is only fair and European business very slow. Some mills still working on old Oriental orders, but outlook for new business is not very encouraging. All spreads were about unchanged.

According to figures prepared by the Canadian Pacific Railway, the amount of land prepared last season for this year's crop was 19,027,153 acres, as compared with 16,295,570 a year ago. This is for the three prairie provinces. Winnipeg futures closed May 1 1/16, July 1 3/16, October 1 3/16, and 1/2 lower on the bottom. The market in the final trade gave every evidence of being overbought.

Coarse grains—There was very little doing in the coarse grain market, the demand being very poor. Markets displayed a firm tone early with very little being offered, but oats, barley and rye weakened off later.

THE OLD ORDER CHANGES

By DAVID LYALL

"They've found the watchword for humanity, my dear, and that is, service for others. Apart from their ridiculous happiness in one another, they have a serenity, a beauty of outlook, and, what is more, a purpose, which is staggering in its completeness and beauty. As I came over here I told myself that I'd missed the way all along, held on to the things that don't matter and let the real things slip. Ah, my dear, old women like you and me, who have had so much, have very little to hold on to. Who will care when 'Finis' is written across our page? We shan't leave even a ripple on the surface, but will be only so-and-so, wife to so-and-so, on a family tombstone. These young creatures, they make history and life! You ought to thank God for them, and go and offer them mothering and love, and everything else you've got. That's my advice—not worth a tinker's cuss, I see you think—but just give it room to sink and to simmer. It's got the germ of truth in it. Goodbye, my dear. Good heavens! Not she gave me tea, spiced with love for humanity. It was better than the best orange Pekoe I ever brewed in my life."

She took herself off a little breathless with these words, leaving a perplexed, angry and very disturbed woman behind. The profound truth underlying her badinage as well as her more serious words had the disturbing power which is the inalienable possession of all truth. Whether accepted or not, the power remains to operate silently, and sometimes beneficently, in whatever life it touches. Mrs. Manning had walked through life companioned by many shadows. Now that she dwelt alone with them, the real things having gone one by one, she felt herself lonely, desolate, timid, almost like a frightened child in its wholly unfamiliar surroundings. An uncontrollable impulse to put on her bonnet and walk across the park to Mardeck's laid hold of her.

She even rose and looked out of the window, only to be discouraged by the sight and feeling of dank mist closing in with the closing day. It was the kind of day on which walls in damp houses would sweat and run, and all the discomfort of insanitary conditions and scamped building would be in full evidence. And outside Mardeck's could not be laid in under forty-five shillings per ton, while the permission to she says I'm careless and that what she tells me goes in at one ear and out at the other. I do try to remember, ma'am, truly I do, but there is such a lot!"

"Poor girl, never mind! I am sure you will become very efficient in the end. Don't worry too much about it. I will tell Mrs. Miles to encourage you as much as she can."

Rose carried out the tray, trembling with pleasure and excitement. She had been now two months in Mrs. Manning's service and this was absolutely the first time she had said anything to her of a personal kind. She had confined herself to occasional orders, to questions concerning the comings and goings of the day. She had not even troubled to reprove her, leaving the training absolutely to Mrs. Miles as something far beneath her immediate personal interest. She was concerned only with the result, not with the process by which it was achieved.

In the pantry, over her washing up, Rose wondered just how much she dared tell Mrs. Miles, of whom she stood in considerable awe, Sarah, who had herself been a most efficient servant, and had, in her own home, developed and encouraged old-maidish ways, was very strict with two young charges, far more strict than Miles, who had a very kindly way with him.

Rose felt, naturally, very important when the occasional absence of Miles, either on his own or his mistress's business, gave her an opportunity of waiting on Mrs. Manning at tea. And now that she had been approved of in so many kind words she decided that she would not be so very humble as to let the matter drop. She had just come to this great decision when the sharp bark of Yappo, the Pekingese, indicated that some intruder was approaching the door. He was behind it, growling when the bell rang. Rose dried her hands hurriedly and went off to discharge her duty at the front door, remembering industriously the minute instructions she had received from Miles as to her deportment there. When she, looking demure and expectant, opened the door, the tall figure of a gentleman she had never seen before stood there. He had a very thin, white, rather sad face, and his eyes were large, eager and hollow.

Instead of making the usual visitor's inquiry, he simply walked into the inner hall and closed the door.

"Is Mrs. Manning in the house?" he asked.

"Yes, sir, please come this way," said Rose, feeling awed and a little nervous, she could not have told why. The stranger seemed to see her, and yet not to see her, to be detached in some odd way from his surroundings.

"Is Mrs. Miles at hand?"

"Yes, sir, she is in the kitchen, sir,"

"I wish to speak to her first, please. Put me in a room for a few moments. I can step in here, perhaps," he added, moving towards the half-open door or the dining-room.

"Is my—Mrs. Manning upstairs?"

"No, sir, in the drawing-room at the end of the corridor, right through. Will you please step this way?"

"I'll wait in here—till you bring Mrs. Miles. No, I will not send in my name; and I can wait in the dark. Go and fetch her quite quickly, if you please."

Now, if Rose had been older and more experienced she would have been mortally afraid of this strange visitor and would have concluded that he was up to no good. But she was an innocent, unsuspecting creature, and therefore took him literally at his word. She pushed her way quickly through the red baize swing door which shut off the servants' quarters and burst in on Sarah Miles, who was already beginning the preparation of her mistress's small, but dainty evening meal.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Silly Pig

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily, hopping toward a hollow tree in the woods where he was looking for Floppy, the little pig, was suddenly given a big surprise, as I told you last night. And the surprise was when the rabbit gentleman heard a voice saying:

"Oh, dear! Why did I ever squeeze in here?"

Uncle Wiggily stopped hopping and began to listen. The old bunny gentleman stood as still as a statue in the snow of the woods, where it was fast getting dark.

"That sounds like Floppy's voice," thought Uncle Wiggily to himself. "But I had better be sure before I go any nearer that hollow tree. It might be the Bob Cat trying to fool me."

Mr. Longears hoped it wasn't the Bob Cat, for that would mean that something had happened to Floppy, whose footprints went right up to the hollow tree. And the rabbit gentleman also goes in the hollow tree that meant something most unpleasant had happened to the little lost pig.

"I can't!" grunted Floppy.

"How could I ever go back to my bungalow, where Mrs. Twisttail is waiting for me to bring her little pig back, and tell her the Bob Cat had him?" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I couldn't do it!"

He lifted one paw to take a step nearer the hollow tree when, once more, he heard a voice saying:

"Oh, why did I ever eat so many of those dried apples?"

"My goodness gracious!" gasped Mr. Longears. "Is that the Bob Cat talking about how many little pigs he has eaten? There is only one Floppy, so the Bob Cat can't have eaten more than one of him. But there are other animals in the woods—"

But once again the voice spoke from the hollow tree saying:

"What a silly little pig I am!"

"Ha! At least I know now that it is Floppy in that hollow tree!" said Uncle Wiggily to himself. And nothing much can happen to him, for he can talk. But I wonder why he calls himself a silly little pig? It isn't silly to be lost in the woods or to go in a hollow tree for shelter. I wonder what has happened to Floppy? I must find out and take him home before it gets too late and dark."

So Uncle Wiggily called:

"Flo, Floppy, what's the matter?"

"Oh, dear Uncle Wiggily! Is that you?" grunted the voice of the silly little pig.

"Yes, I am here," answered the rabbit gentleman. Your mother was worried about you and she came to ask me to look for you. Now I have found you, though I don't exactly see you, and I heard you say you were a silly little pig. I wonder why?"

"Come over closer to this tree and look in, and you will no longer wonder why I called myself silly," grunted the voice of Floppy.

So Uncle Wiggily hopped over to the hollow tree, which had a hole in the side like a door. It was still light enough for the rabbit gentleman to see within, and there he saw Floppy, sort of crunched down on a pile of leaves.

"What is the matter, Floppy?" asked the rabbit gentleman. "Why don't you come out of that hollow tree and come home with me to your mother, who is crying big fat tears into a pocket-handkerchief as big as a bed-sheet? Why don't you?"

"Because," grunted Floppy. "I can't!"

"Why not? Is the Bob Cat inside there holding you?"

"No," answered Floppy. "Listen and I will tell you. I left my brother Curly and we were coming out of school, and went back to get a book I had forgotten. Then I thought I would run to the woods to see if I could find an adventure as you so often do. Well, I got to the woods and then, all of a sudden, I smelled dried apples!"

"Dried apples?" cried Uncle Wiggily in surprise.

"Yes, dried apples," went on Floppy. "I smelled and smelled, until I smelled them in this hollow tree. Oh, I just love dried apples! So I crawled in through the hole and I began to eat dried apples as fast as I could. I was hungry and I ate and ate and I ate until I ate them all up—all the dried apples."

"Well, that may have been a greedy thing to do," said Uncle Wiggily, "eating all the dried apples in a hollow tree. But come on out now and I will take you home."

"Oh, I wish I could come out, but I can't!" squealed Floppy.

"Why not?" asked Mr. Longears. "Don't be silly!"

"I'm not silly!" sighed Floppy. "I was silly to eat so many dried apples, for now they have swelled up big inside me and I am so fat I can't get out of this hollow tree! Oh, dear!"

Well, that was a queer surprise. But don't worry! Everything is going to be all right. And in the next story, if the automobile doesn't skid into the front yard and bump the door mat, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily helping Floppy.

Brentwood

A lecture on South Africa, illustrated with lantern slides, was given by L. E. Taylor on Friday evening at the Institute Hall, Brentwood. The address will be under the auspices of the South African War Veterans Association and St. Mary's Church.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Sumner, formerly of Victoria, have taken up residence at their summer cottages at Brentwood.

Major and Mrs. MacQueen entertained the Ward Six Conservative Association at their home on Verdier Avenue on Monday evening.

Sooke

On Saturday evening an amateur troupe from Victoria, "the Gloom Chasers," gave a successful concert and dance at the Sooke Lake. The company included: Mary Barr, Dorothy Reese, Alice Kershaw, Nelson Goodwin, Frank Deaville, John Mannis, Jim Matheson, Charles Lewis, Edward Keiser, and Sidney Feldon. The singing and comedy were excellent and earned rounds of applause. The company served refreshments and provided music for the dance.

Smart Doings Of Animals

St. Bernard Understands First Intuition to Hide

That animals have, or develop, conceit is well known, but it is always charming, as a story told by Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, former national president of the W.C.T.U., indicates.

Mrs. Stevens had a fine St. Bernard, but as he was so big she never took him into her carriage. One day, however, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals had a fair. The St. Bernard, named Sultan, was to be a part of the exhibition, and preliminary to being taken to it, had to be given a bath. In order that he might remain clean, Mrs. Stevens explained carefully to him that he was to ride in the carriage that day and must conduct himself decorously.

Some hours later, when Mrs. Stevens was informed that the carriage was ready, Sultan at once went to the side door, where he had seen the carriage waiting scores of times, and without any other word from her at once got into it. He rode to the show in dignified fashion, conducted himself with grace under the admiring glances of hundreds of persons, and when the show was over immediately got in the carriage to go home, highly satisfied. ## Royal Oak

The local Boy Scouts Troop and Cub Pack have disbanded. An executive meeting held at the home of A. J. Wedd, president, agreed that long distances and the change of bus schedule, made disbandment advisable. Funds on hand will be divided between scout headquarters and the Royal Oak-Woodville committee, to be used in connection with the Badminton Club. The equipment will be used by one of the Victoria branches.

Mr. Wedd, on behalf of the executive committee, presented Miss Sherwood with a traveling bag in recognition of her services and interest in the work since the formation of the pack.

The East Saanich Road Sunday School, recently formed as a branch of St. Michael's Anglican Sunday School, is being well attended. The Saanich Fruit Growers' Association have given a room of their building for the purpose, and Mr. Matson has donated a stove, table and chairs. Classes are held for junior and senior grades, Mrs. Pinhorn and Mrs. Geo. Love in charge.

When Food Sours

Sweeten the stomach—Instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention. It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore. (Adv.)

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

READ THE STORY. THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

Three Tinymites, far under ground, were hoping Clowey could be found. They'd dropped down through a deep shaft, and now were in the dark. Said Coppy, "Well, I hope that we can shortly get poor Clowey free. No doubt, if he is safe, he thinks this all is quite a lark."

"But we are all scared, there's no doubt. I'll be real glad when we see out. The air is getting stuffy and it's feeling rather hot. This is a coal mine, I'll just bet. I've never seen so much coal yet. Let's start to move around a bit. To stand still's tummy rot."

"You're right," said Carpy, with a sigh. "If Clowey's really right near by, it's up to us to find him, so we can't just idly stand. You see, he may be in a trap, or else just taking quite a nap. We never will find out until this whole big cave is scanned."

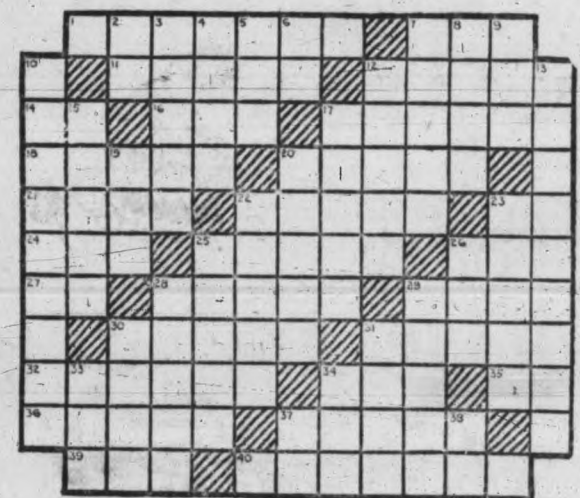

So, off they started, by some walls, imagining they heard queer calls. We'll leave them for a moment, and return to Clowey's side. He knew that he was blocked in tight within the cave, but quite all right. He couldn't find an exit place, no matter how he tried.

"Course, looking 'round made him tired out, and now there wasn't any doubt that just a little nap he'd sneaked had done him heaps of good. Thought he, "I wish I had a pick. I know I would come in very slick. I'd hack my way out of this cave. I'm pretty sure I could."

Just then a coal cag came in sight, right underneath a lantern light. It stood on tiny little tracks. Said Clowey, "This is grand. There's nothing gained, if nothing's tried. I'll hop aboard and take a ride." And then he gave the cart a shove, not knowing where he'd land.

To-morrow's Horoscope

FRIDAY, MARCH 15, 1929

Astrologers read this as "rather an uncertain day, although benefic aspects dominate."

The early morning is likely to bring a sense of discontent and impatience with the world and mental peace should be sought.

Under this way labor may nurse dissatisfaction and for this reason employees should be widely diplomatic in dealing with any sort of grievance.

This is an auspicious planetary government under which to carry on courtship, and suitors should be fortunate while this prevails.

It is a day for girls to seek employment or promotion. The rule is supposed to enable them to make the best impression.

Women are subject to the best possible planetary influences which are supposed to emphasize feminine charm.

Again a kindly guidance of the stars attends shopping expeditions which should assure full value for expenditures.

It is a lucky day for seeking beauty aids or for improving the personal appearance in any manner. The wearing of new gowns is supposed to be especially lucky.

Persons so equipped to be good fortune for men who wield international influence to our watch tends toward clearer understanding between peoples of different races.

Statements who belong to the world as much as to one country are to gain ascendancy in this year of 1929, and to bring about new hope of world peace, the seers foretell.

Poland and the Balkan states again are subject to sinister planetary government that may cause serious disaster.

Persons whose birthdate it is may meet certain obstacles in their pathways this year. Much is said through friendships. Children born on this day probably will be talented and able to succeed in any of the arts. The subjects of this sign should be carefully guided for they are likely to be temperamental and apparently lazy when put into wrong vocations.

AT THE THEATRES

RIN-TIN-TIN IS
AT THE COLUMBIA

Rin-Tin-Tin, starring in "A Race for Life," the Warner Brothers production now at the Columbia Theatre, is a German shepherd dog which was found and adopted by Lieut. Lee Duncan in France. The dog when found was but three days old and in the advance war zone. It was Duncan who trained him and later put him in the movies. Rin-Tin-Tin's first starring vehicle, "Where the North Begins," was followed by a series of successes that include "The Lighthouse by the Sea," "The Hero of the Big Snows," "Find Your Man," "Tracked in the Snow Country," "The Night Cry," "The Clash of the Wolves," "While London Sleeps," "Blow the Line," "Hills of Kentucky," "Tracked by the Police," and "Jaws of Steel."

"HARDBOILED" IS
CAPITOL THEATRE

An exhaustive search for a youth of the required fire and dash to enact the role of a millionaire play-boy of Broadway, who marries a mercenary girl, resulted in the selection of Donald Reed to play opposite Sally O'Neill in Ralph Ince's FBO production, "Hardboiled," which is the current attraction at the Capitol Theatre.

Reed, who was born in Mexico City and is of Spanish parentage, personifies the vibrancy of the Latin races, and is ideally cast in the romantic role of the FBO feature. Although a native of Mexico, Reed was educated in the United States and speaks English perfectly. In fact, he was brought to California at the age of seven for the study of English. He was a pupil in private and public schools in Pasadena, California. Later, he attended Occidental College.

Miss Kent has achieved a great measure of success in the films, and is well on the road to stardom without ever having had to play a single extra or atmosphere role. Her cinema experiences read like a Cinderella story. Beautiful Barbara was born in Gadsby, Alberta, Canada. She came to the United States with her parents a few years ago, motoring through California. For a while they stayed in Fresno, where Barbara annexed a silver cup in a beauty contest.

The family next decided to go further south and eventually the Kents found themselves in Los Angeles. Another cup was won by the pretty daughter, this time a personality prize awarded by The Examiner. Upon taking up their abode in Hollywood, the family was startled by Barbara's bringing home still a third trophy, again for beauty, given by The Hollywood News. She was immediately signed by Universal.

WILL PRESENT
THREE ROLES

Bransby Williams Coming to Royal Victoria Next Week in Popular Plays

During the week of March 18, Bransby Williams, the great English character actor, will be seen at the Royal Victoria Theatre in three plays that promise to hold high place in the leading events of the present season. They are "Treasure Island," Robert Louis Stevenson's classic story of the search for Captain Kidd's gold; "A Romance of the Road," A. B. Shirland's story of eighteenth-century England—the era of romance, and a new version of Charles Dickens's classic, "Oliver Twist."

In "Romance of the Road," which will be seen the first two nights of the week's engagement, Mr. Williams lays aside the grim and sinister roles with which his name is usually associated, to present a character that will add not only to his reputation for versatility, but will further enhance the high reputation he enjoys as one of the most finished actors the English stage has produced, namely that of the dashing "blade," Lord Beverstock, in a story of the powder and patch days of Merrie England, with love, mystery and adventure intermingled.

In "Oliver Twist," Mr. Williams, on Wednesday and Thursday will play the two roles of Fagin, the Jew and Mr. Grimwig. In this new adaptation, cameos are utilized between the big scenes, retaining the continuity of the story without the inevitable long waits for change of scenery.

John Silver is naturally the role that attracted Mr. Williams to "Treasure Island," which will be the offering on Friday and Saturday with a Saturday matinee. Securing world rights of performance, he prepared a version that holds all the old thrill of the famous tale. The mutiny of the crew when the island is found, the siege of the block-house, the recapture of the schooner and ultimate success are conveyed with great realism. As Silver and his parrot and his wooden leg thrilled everyone who has read the story—and who has not?—so does Bransby Williams thrill his audience in his interpretation of the old pirate who returns to his old tricks when the lure of gold rises before his eyes.

Two Farces At Garden Friday

Scintillating Comedies Will Be Produced at Crystal Garden
By Co-optimists

Two rollicking farce comedies, "Establishing Relations" and "Barbara," will be produced by the popular Co-optimist Comedy Company at the Crystal Garden on Friday night.

The first of these is by W. W. Jacobs, whose thrilling drama, "The Monkey's Paw," was produced by the Co-optimists last week with such outstanding success. "Barbara" is a scintillating farce by the celebrated Jerome K. Jerome.

The story of "Establishing Relations" deals with the trials of a love-sick male of a coaching vessel, who, having found the lady of his choice, fortifies himself with three glasses of beer and walks into her house to pose as her long-lost brother.

Naturally enough, the imposition does not deceive the young lady, who, failing in her efforts to get rid of the impostor, persuades her charwoman to impersonate his wife—who, in actual fact, does not and has never existed. But the mate manfully sticks to his guns and finally achieves victory after a whirling campaign lasting not quite thirty minutes.

A. Legge-Willis, Mr. and Mrs. W. Taylor and the Misses Mildred and Dulcie Hamlet will comprise the cast for this play.

ROMANTIC NATURE
In "Barbara" Mr. Jerome has written a comedy in one act of a very romantic nature. Barbara, a lonely woman, finds an equally lonely girl in the person of Lily Lealand and offers her a home. Lily gratefully accepts and the two become fast friends. Lily is deeply in love with a young man who is himself equally in love with her, but lacks sufficient money to undertake marriage. An old debtor appears on the scene and tells a story of some money left to a girl who was drowned at sea and whose legacy reverts to her brother, Cecil Norton, the very man who is in love with Lily. Now, Barbara was supposed to have been drowned at sea. She recognizes the name of the ship mentioned by the doctor and realizes that she, herself, is heir to the money. Jerome ends the story in that clever way for which he has become famous.

COLISEUM PLAYERS
SCORING SUCCESS
IN AMUSING SHOW

One of the finest doubles bill seen here for some time is presented at the Coliseum Theatre this week. The Coliseum Players, under the direction of Raymond "Toby" Leitch, are offering on the stage a play entitled "The Watts Family," and the screen attraction is Pola Negri in "The Woman from Moscow."

"The Watts Family" on the stage is particularly attractive. The plot is amusing, the stage settings pleasing and the cast well-chosen and strong. The members of "The Watts Family," it seems, especially the young brother and sister, just can't get along. They quarrel and call each other anything but complimentary names. Father invests his small fortune in an oil well, which turns out flat and is subject to great ridicule and blame for this foolishness, although, really, it was the children who influenced him. Mother is the only one who keeps calm, and just smiles when the children tell her that, although they love her dearly, she never has to do anything but just the housework, the washing and cooking and mending.

On the screen this week, Pola Negri has the leading role in a picture entitled "The Woman from Moscow." Adjudged as one of the finest pictures of the year by motion picture critics, this film is a story of beautiful women with beautiful and gorgeous gowns, filmed in the grand salons of Russia during the revolutionary period.
